NEW SERIES OF LATIN SCHOOL BOOKS.

CROCKER & BREWSTER,

No. 47 WASHINGTON STREET, BOSTON,

Publish the following Books, which constitute a regular series of elementary Latin works designed for the use of Schools:—

Latin Grammar. A Grammar of the Latin Language, for the Use of Schools and Colleges. By Professor E. A. ANDREWS and Professor S. STODDARD.

This Grammar has been adopted in most of the schools and colleges of this country. It is distinguished for its copiousness, its philosophical arrangement, and the scientific precision of its rules and definitions.

The following works have been prepared by Professor ANDREWS, for the purpose of completing the series, of which the Grammar of Andrews and Stoddard is the basis:—

Questions on the Grammar. Questions on Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar.

This little volume is intended to aid the student in examining himself in regard to the preparation of his lessons, and the teacher in conducting his recitations.

Latin Lessons. First Lessons in Latin, or an Introduction to Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar.

This volume is designed for the younger classes of Latin students, to whom the larger Grammar might, at first, appear too formidable, and for all who, at any period of life, may wish to acquire an accurate knowledge of the first principles of the language. The work is complete in itself, containing the prominent rules and principles of the Grammar, with easy reading and writing lessons, serving to illustrate those principles. It is also furnished with numerous grammatical references, and a dictionary of the Latin words and phrases occurring in the lessons.

Latin Reader. The First Part of Jacobs and Döring's Latin Reader, with a Dictionary and Notes; adapted to Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar.

The plan of this edition of the Latin Reader, which was in a great degree new, has been so highly approved, as to lead to its introduction, with suitable modifications, into all the subsequent volumes of the series. Instead of the grammatical notes usually found in works of this kind, numerous references are every where made to those principles of the Grammar which serve to explain the peculiarities of form or construction which occur in the lessons. The application of these principles is generally left to the sagacity of the student, and by this means a wholesome exercise of his faculties is fully secured.

Latin Exercises; adapted to Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar.

The exercises contained in this volume are designed to illustrate the principles of the Latin Grammar in its various departments, and to render their application easy and familiar to the student. The plan and arrange ment of the work are such, that, under the direction of a judicious teacher, the student may commence the use of it almost as soon as he takes up his grammar, and continue it, at least as an occasional exercise, until he has finished his preparatory course. It is intended to smooth his way to original composition in the Latin language, both in prose and in verse.

A Key to Latin Exercises; adapted to Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar.

This Key, containing all the lessons in the Exercises fully corrected, is intended for the use of teachers only.

Viri Romæ. The Viri Romæ of Lhomond, adapted to Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar; with Notes and a copious Dictionary.

A careful perusal of this book, after the student has made himself master of the Reader, will constitute a good preparation for reading the easier Latin classics, which, without some such intermediate work, are commonly read under great disadvantages. It will at the same time render him familiar with the principal characters and most prominent events of Roman history.

Cæsar's Commentaries on the Gallic War; with a Dictionary and Notes.

The text of this edition of Cæsar's Gallic War has been formed by reference to the best modern German editions. The Notes are principally grammatical, and are intended to afford that kind and degree of assistance which the student may be supposed to need at his first introduction to a genuine classic author. The Dictionary, which, like all the others in the series, has been prepared with great labor, contains not only the usual significations of each word, and its derivation, but an explanation of all those phrases which might otherwise perplex the student.

[The above work is nearly completed, and will soon be put to press.]

Sallust. Sallust's History of the War against Jugurtha, and of the Conspiracy of Catiline; with a Dictionary and Notes.

The plan of this edition of Sallust is the same as that of the preceding work. The text of Cortius has, in many instances, been exchanged for that of Kritz or Gerlach, and its orthography is, in general, conformed to that of Pottier and of Planche, and is, consequently, in most cases, the same as is found in school editions of the other Latin classics.

Ovid. Selections from the Metamorphoses and Heroides of Ovid; with Notes, Grammatical References, and Exercises in Scanning.

These Selections are designed as an introduction to Latin poetry. They consist of the most interesting fables from Ovid, with numerous brief notes explanatory of difficult phrases, of obscure historical or mythological allusions, and especially of grammatical difficulties. To these are added such Exercises in Scanning as will serve fully to introduce the student to a knowledge of the structure and laws of hexameter and pentameter verse.

New Series of Latin School Books.

ANDREWS AND STODDARD'S LATIN GRAMMAR has long since been introduced into the LATIN SCHOOL OF THE CITY OF BOSTON, and into most of the other principal Classical Schools in this country. It is adopted by all the Colleges in New England, viz., HARVARD, YALE, DARTMOUTH, AMHERST, WILLIAMS, BOWDOIN, WATERTOWN, MIDDLEBURY, BURLINGTON, BROWN UNIVERSITY at Providence, WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY at Middletown, and WASHINGTON COLLEGE at Hartford; also at HAMILTON COLLEGE, New York, NEW YORK UNIVERSITY, city of New York, CINCINNATI COLLEGE and MARIETTA COLLEGE, Ohio, RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE, Virginia, MOUNT HOPE COLLEGE, near Baltimore, MARYLAND INSTITUTE OF INSTRUCTION and ST. MARY'S COLLEGE, Baltimore, and the UNIVERSITIES OF MICHIGAN and ALABAMA; and has been highly recommended by Professors Kingsley, Woolsey, Olmstead, and Gibbs, of Yale College; Professor Beck, of Harvard College; President Penney and Professor North, of Hamilton College; Professor Packard, of Bowdoin College; Professor Holland, of Washington College; Professor Fisk, of Amherst College, and by Professor Hackett, of Brown University; — also by Messrs. Dillaway and Gardner, of the Boston Latin School; Rev. Lyman Colman, of the English High School, Andover; Hon. John Hall, Principal of the Ellington School, Conn.; Mr. Shaler, Principal of the Connecticut Literary Institution, at Suffield; Simeon Hart, Esq., Farmington, Conn.; Professor Cogswell, of Round Hill School, Northampton; President Shannon, of Louisiana College, and by various periodicals.

As a specimen of the communications received from the above sources, the following extracts are given: —

It gives me great pleasure to bear my testimony to the superior merits of the Latin Grammar lately edited by Professor Andrews and Mr. Stoddard. I express most cheerfully, unhesitatingly, and decidedly, my preference of this Grammar to that of Adam, which has, for so long a time, kept almost undisputed sway in our schools. — Dr. C. Beck, Professor of Latin in Harvard University.

I know of no grammar published in this country, which promises to answer so well the purposes of elementary classical instruction, and shall be glad to see it introduced into our best schools. — Mr. Charles K. Dillaway, Master of the Public Latin School, Boston.

Your new Latin Grammar appears to me much better suited to the use of students than any other grammar I am acquainted with. — Professor William M. Holland, Washington College, Hartford, Conn.

I can with much pleasure say that your Grammar seems to me much better adapted to the present condition and wants of our schools than any one with which I am acquainted, and to supply that which has long been wanted — a good Latin grammar for common use. — Mr. F. Gardner, one of the Masters Boston Lat. Sch.

The Latin Grammar of Andrews and Stoddard is deserving, in my opinion, of the approbation which so many of our ablest teachers have bestowed upon it. It is believed that, of all the grammars at present before the public, this has greatly the advantage, in regard both to the excellence of its arrangement, and the accuracy and copiousness of its information; and it is earnestly hoped that its merits will procure for it that general favor and use to which it is entitled. — H. B. Hackett, Professor of Languages in Brown University.

The universal favor with which this Grammar is received was not unexpected. It will bear a thorough and discriminating examination. In the use of well-defined and expressive terms, especially in the syntax, we know of no Latin or Greek grammar which is to be compared to this. — Amer. Quarterly Register.

The Latin Grammar of Andrews and Stoddard I consider a work of great merit. I have found in it several principles of the Latin language correctly explained which I had myself learned from a twenty years' study of that language, but had never seen illustrated in any grammar. Andrews's First Lessons I con-consider a valuable work for beginners, and in the sphere which it is designed to occupy, I know not that I have met its equal. — Rev. James Shannon, President of College of Louisiana.

New Series of Latin School Books.

These works will furnish a series of elementary publications for the study of Latin altogether in advance of any thing which has hitherto appeared, either in this country or in England. — American Biblical Repository.

We have made Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar the subject both of reference and recitation daily for several months, and I cheerfully and decidedly bear testimony to its superior excellence to any manual of the kind with which I am acquainted. Every part bears the impress of a careful compiler. The principles of syntax are happily developed in the rules, whilst those relating to the moods and tenses supply an important deficiency in our former grammars. The rules of prosody are also clearly and fully exhibited. — Rev. Lyman Coleman, Principal of Burr Seminary, Manchester, Vt.

I have examined Andrews and Stoddard's Latin Grammar, and regard it as superior to any thing of the kind now in use. It is what has long been needed, and will undoubtedly be welcomed by every one interested in the philology of the Latin language. We shall hereafter use it as a text-book in this institution. — Mr. Wm. H. Shaler, Principal of the Connecticut Lit. Institution at Suffield.

This work bears evident marks of great care and skill, and ripe and accurate scholarship in the authors. It excels most grammars in this particular, that, while by its plainness it is suited to the necessities of most beginners, by its fulness and detail it will satisfy the inquiries of the advanced scholar, and will be a suitable companion at all stages of his progress. We cordially commend it to the student and teacher. — Biblical Repository.

Your Grammar is what I expected it would be — an excellent book, and just the thing which was needed. We cannot hesitate a moment in laying aside the books now in use, and introducing this. — Rev. J. Penney, D. D., President of Hamilton College, New York.

Your Grammar bears throughout evidence of original and thorough investigation and sound criticism. I hope, and doubt not, it will be adopted in our schools and colleges, it being, in my apprehension, so far as simplicity is concerned, on the one hand, and philosophical views and sound scholarship on the other, far preferable to other grammars; a work at the same time highly creditable to yourselves and to our country. — Professor A. Packard, Bowdoin College, Maine.

This Grammar appears to me to be accommodated alike to the wants of the new beginner and the experienced scholar, and, as such, well fitted to supply what has long been felt to be a great desideratum in the department of classical learning. — Professor S. North, Hamilton College, New York.

From such an examination of this Grammar as I have been able to give it, I do not hesitate to pronounce it superior to any other with which I am acquainted. I have never seen, any where, a greater amount of valuable matter compressed within limits equally narrow. — Hon. John Hall, Prin. of Ellington School, Conn.

We have no hesitation in pronouncing this Grammar decidedly superior to any now in use. — Boston Recorder.

I am ready to express my great satisfaction with your Grammar, and do not hesitate to say, that I am better pleased with such portions of the syntax as I have perused, than with the corresponding portions in any other grammar with which I am acquainted. — Professor N. W. Fiske, Amherst College, Mass.

I know of no grammar in the Latin language so well adapted to answer the purpose for which it was designed as this. The book of Questions is a valuable attendant of the Grammar. — Simeon Hart, Esq., Farmington, Conn.

This Grammar has received the labor of years, and is the result of much reflection and experience, and mature scholarship. As such, it claims the attention of all who are interested in the promotion of sound learning. — N. Y. Obs.

This Grammar is an original work. Its arrangement is philosophical, and its rules clear and precise, beyond those of any other grammar we have seen. — Portland Christian Mirror.

PREFACE.

MAIN

THE following Exercises form the concluding volume of a series of elementary Latin works, the basis of which is the Latin Grammar of Andrews and Stoddard. In addition to the Grammar and Exercises, the series includes, under the title of "First Lessons in Latin," an abridgment of the Grammar, with short reading lessons and corresponding exercises in syntax; and also an edition of "Jacobs and Döring's Latin Reader," with copious references to the larger Grammar.

The volume now offered to the public consists of exercises designed to illustrate the principles of orthoëpy, etymology, syntax, and prosody, as exhibited in the same Grammar, and to render their application easy and familiar to the student.

The exercises in syntax are divided into two parts. In the first, which contains only short sentences, intended to illustrate the more important principles of syntax, the rules are arranged in such a manner, as to prevent, in a great degree, the introduction of idioms not previously illustrated. In the second part, the order of the rules in the Grammar has been preserved, and the number of examples has been proportioned, in some degree, to the importance or difficulty of the rule. Subjoined to these are other examples, illustrative of the more important remarks and exceptions under each rule. To the examples of English and Latin sentences, arranged in corresponding columns, are added others, consisting of English sentences only, with notes designed to aid the student in his choice of words and phrases, and to lead him to the right construction. In the syntactic part of the work, Dr. Kenrick's Exercises, adapted to his translation of Zumpt's Grammar, have furnished many of the most valuable materials; and whatever was wanting in that work to complete the plan of these exercises has been supplied from other sources.

The prosodial exercises are taken from Bradley's Prosody, and will be found particularly useful to those who wish to acquire the art of writing Latin verses—an art, as experience has shown, highly useful in improving the classical taste of those who practise it, and scarcely requiring more time or labor for its acquisition than is often spent in decrying it.

In regard to the mode of using this work, much must be left to the judgment of the teacher, who will be guided, in this respect, by a consideration of the age and attainments of the student. In general, the exercises in etymology, and the shorter ones in syntax, can be corrected after the first perusal of the Grammar; while the remaining parts should be studied in connection with a thorough review of those portions of the Grammar to which they relate. In commencing the study of this work, it may be best for the student to write the principal part of his exercises; but subsequently, and especially in reviewing it, oral translations will probably be found more useful. By this means, English words and phrases become permanently associated with the corresponding Latin expressions, so that the latter are immediately suggested by the former.

The exercises in hexameter and pentameter verses can be commenced as soon as the student is well acquainted with the principal rules of prosody. With these it may be found useful to connect the composition of what are called nonsense verses, or lines correctly constructed, according to the rules of prosody, but without regard to the meaning of the words of which they are composed. An accurate knowledge of the mechanical structure of the verse may, in this way, be readily acquired; after which the transition will be easy, on the part of those who possess some share of poetical genius, to the composition of sense verses.

When the student is familiar with the exercises contained in this volume, he will be prepared to commence original composition; which should always be accompanied with a careful perusal of the best Latin classics, from which alone a pure idiom can be acquired.

ORTHOËPY.

Divide and accent the following words :

§ 18. Nemo, eques, munus, timor, pauper, fœdus, cæcus, gigas, consules, homīnes, corpōra, optimus, urgētur, cupiditātes, amittitur; lucrum, agri, ambulācrum, Themistōcles; nullus, verbum, virtus, doctus, agnus, omnis, scripsi, pastor, naphtha, Anacharsis.

§ 19. Genēra, æquōra, erīpi, muneribus, venerabilis, frugalitas, Gaditānus, perītus, amātus, audītus; egregius, patricius, Agrippa, Euphrātes, Euclides.

§ 20. Longissimus, princīpes, vespēra, Vespasiānus, oblecto, colendus, arundīnes, vertuntur, sententia, patribus.

(a.) Palladium, gratia, patientia, sedeo, Mediolānum, doleo, morior, otium, oleagīnus, Adria, Trinacria, Admagetobria; (b.) producēre, munēra, laurea, Eupōlis, volucris; (c.) induo, artuum.

§ 23. Aboleo, adōro, adīgo, ambīgo, circumeo, decīdo, diluo, ebībo, elōquor, inaudax, inūro, obeo, obambūlo, pereoo, pererro, prædīco, præfēro, profēro, profluo, prodesse, prodīgo, redeo, redĭgo, relĕvo, subactus, subĭtus, suborno,—rupimiserīcors, brevilōquens, superstes, ædificō, maledīco, mul-timōdis, quomōdo, comĭnus, propediem, quilibet, alicūbi, præterea, sicūbi, quamōbrem. .

Scientiā nulla res est præstantior. Obsequium amīcos, veritas odium parit.

Ad Cæsārem Augustum delātum est, L. Cinnam insidias ei struere. Cinnam ad se accersivit, dimissisque omñibus, indiciū exposuit, adjĕcit locum, socios, diem, ordinem in-sidiarum; et cū sua in eum beneficia plurīma commemorasset, pro quibus ille infandam cædem paraverat, his verbis desiit: “Vitam tibi, Cinna, itĕrum do, prius hosti, cū te in hostium meōrum castris invenĕrim, nunc insidiatōri ac par-ricidæ. Ex hodierno die inter nos amicitia incipiat; et quā libenter ego tibi vitam do, tam libenter tu mihi eam debeas.” Post hæc, detulit ei ultro consulātum, questus quod non audĕret petĕre; amicissimum fidelissimumque habuit.
Heres illi solus fuit: et nullis ampliūs insidiis ab ullo petĭtus est, id clementiā consecūtus, quod antea severitatē frustrā quæsivĕrit.

ETYMOLOGY.

PART I.

NOUNS.

The following questions are inserted as examples of exercises on the declensions.

What are the terminations of the several cases in the first declension in each number?—in the second declension?—in the third?—in the fourth?—in the fifth? What is the termination of the nom. sing. in the first declension?—nom. plur.?—gen. sing.?—gen. plur.?—dat. sing.?—dat. plur.?—acc. sing.?—acc. plur.?—voc. sing.?—voc. plur.?—abl. sing.?—abl. plur.?

Similar questions should be proposed in regard to the other declensions, varying their order, till each termination can be readily given without reference to its connection ; after which promiscuous exercises on all the declensions can be introduced.

What is the root of aula? — cura? — galea? — insŭla? — litĕra? — luscinia? — machĭna? — penna? — sagitta? — stella? — toga?

What is the root of animus? — clypeus? — corvus? — gladius? — numĕrus? — puer? — socer? — aper? — faber? — magister? — antrum? — bellum? — negotium?

What is the root of poĕma? — stemma? — ancĭle? — aquĭlo? — regio? — ferrŭgo? — formĭdo? — homo? — caro? — animal? — Titan? — carcer? — mel? — agmen? — tibĭcen? — frater? — crater? — fcr? — hepar? — cor? — ebur? — piĕtas? — mas? — ales? — clades? — comes? — lebes? — miles? — seges? — obses? — Ceres? — classis? — cuspis? — sanguis? — lis? — mos? — custos? — bos? — fædus? — corpus? — palus? — virtus? — jus? — laus? — stirps? — dens? — forceps? — frons? — auceps? — cornix? — conjux? — lex? — apex? — senex? — nix? — nox?

What is the root of cantus? — currus? — exercĭtus? — veru? — fides? — spes? — facies?

The student will perceive that the roots of many nouns and adjectives are not found in the nominative singular. For the purpose of supplying the true root, as well as for determining the declension, the termination of the genitive singular is given in the dictionary, since, in all the declensions, the root may be found by removing the termination of this case.

Give animus, nom. plur.; clypeus, voc. sing.; corvus, abl. sing.; focus, acc. sing.; gladius, gen. plur.; lucus, acc. plur.; numĕrus, dat. plur.; oceānus, dat. sing.; trochus, dat. sing.; puer, abl. sing.; Lucifer, acc. sing.; socer, gen. plur.; aper, acc. plur.; auster, dat. sing.; faber, nom. plur.; liber, abl. plur.; magister, voc. sing.; onāger, dat. plur.; Teucer, abl. sing.; antrum, acc. sing.; atrium, nom. plur.; bellum, acc. plur.; exemplum, abl. plur.; negotium, dat. sing.; saxum, gen. plur.; Tullius, voc. sing.

Give poĕma, abl. sing.; schema, nom. plur.; stemma, gen. plur.; epigramma, gen. sing.

Ancile, dat. sing.; mantile, abl. sing.; rete, gen. plur.; ovile, acc. plur.; aquilo, gen. sing.; bubo, acc. sing.; regio, acc. plur.; oratio, nom. plur.; ratio, gen. plur.; latro, abl. sing.; — ferrūgo, dat. sing.; formido, acc. plur.; grando, gen. sing.; orīgo, gen. plur.; virgo, dat. plur.; homo, acc. sing.; caro, abl. sing.

Animāl, nom. plur.; vigil, acc. sing.; Titan, dat. sing.; Siren, acc. plur.; carcer, dat. plur.; calcar, abl. sing.; pulvīnar, nom. plur.; — mel, nom. plur.; — agmen, dat. sing.; crimen, nom. plur.; carmen, abl. plur.; gramen, abl. sing.

Tibicen, acc. sing.; — mater, nom. plur.; frater, abl. plur.; accipiter, acc. sing.; — crater, acc. plur.; — far, abl. sing.; hepar, dat. sing.; cor, nom. plur.; — ebur, abl. sing.

VERBS.

What are the personal terminations of the active voice ? — of the passive voice ? What are the terminations of the second and third roots in the first conjugation ? — second conjugation ? — third conjugation ? — fourth conjugation ? — Give the terminations of the parts formed from the first root in the first conjugation, active voice — passive voice — in the second conj. act. — pass. — in the third conj. act. — pass. — in the fourth conj. act. — pass.

Give the terminations of the parts formed from the second root — from the third root.

The student should be exercised on the terminations of verbs, in each conjugation, voice, mood, tense, person, and number, till he can give the required termination of any part, and, on the other hand, can decide readily where any given form is found.

Give the principal parts of the following verbs in both voices : —

Laudo, to praise ; muto, to change ; voco, to call ; compleo, to fill ; moveo, to move ; terreo, to terrify ; duco, to lead ; mitto, to send ; jacio, to throw ; nutrio, to nourish ; punio, to punish ; vestio, to clothe.

NOTE. Do is a sign of the present tense, did usually of the perfect, but when it denotes continued or customary action, of the imperfect. These auxiliaries are used especially in interrogations.

A sentence may be changed from the declarative to the interrogative form, by prefixing an or num, or by annexing the enclitic ne to the first word in the clause ; as, audis, thou hearest ; an audis ? num audis ? or audisne ? dost thou hear ?

Give the Latin words corresponding to the following English forms : —

RELATIVES.

§ 206. Relatives agree with their antecedents in gender and number, but their case depends on the construction of the clause to which they belong.

The hour which has passed cannot return.

Bring thou flowers which the bee loves.

Cæsar, for the reasons which I have mentioned, determined to cross the Rhine.

He is rich, whose mind is tranquil.

The foundation of permanent fame is justice, without which there can be nothing praiseworthy.

Hora, qui prætereo, non redeo possum.

Affëro<sup>a</sup> flos qui amo apis.

Cæsar, hic de causa qui commemorô, Rhenus transeo decerno.

Dives sum, qui animus tranquillus sum.

The husbandman plants trees, whose fruit he himself will never see.

How can it be imagined that there is any animal which hates itself?

Who has been found, that blamed my consulship, except Clodius?

All (persons) by nature follow those (things) which seem good, and avoid the contrary.

Dicæarchus has written three books, which are called Lesbians.

There is no nation which we can fear.

The Egyptians consecrated no animal, but for some advantage which they received from it.

We are not those to whom nothing appears to be true.

I will explain those things which you desire, as well as I can.

I expect, with the utmost solicitude, the arrival of Menander, whom I sent to you.

Why am I compelled to censure the senate, whom I have always commended?

All the reasons which you mention are very just.

The consuls came to that army which I had in Apulia.

(1.) The Helvetians appoint a day, on which day all should assemble upon the bank of the Rhone.

Cæsar knew that the day was near, on which day it was necessary that corn should be distributed to the soldiers.

(2.) I, who console you, cannot (console) myself.

For the most part, men willingly believe that which they desire.

(3.) The desires which arise from nature are easily satisfied without any harm.

Ambigatus, desiring to relieve his kingdom from a burdensome population, declared that he would send his sons to the settlements which the gods should point out by auguries.

I trust, such are your prudence and temperance, that you are in good health.

(I) who, such is my inattention, often did not come near you for many days, while you were here, am now daily distressed because I cannot run to you.

(a.) Most persons require those (things) from friends, which they do not themselves give.

He who does not fear death, procures for himself a great security to a happy life.

(b.) I have the letters which you sent to Nero.

(4.) (Those) who seem to be doing nothing, are often doing greater (things) than others.

(He) who wishes the kernel to be (extracted) from the nut, cracks the nut.

(5.) The grove of Hammon has a fountain (which) they call the water of the sun; it flows lukewarm at day-break, and cold at mid-day, when the heat is most intense.

Qui, qui meus negligentia sum, multus sæpe dies ad tu, cum hic sum, non accedo, nunc quotidie, non sum tu, ad qui cursito<sup>c</sup>, discrucior.

(6.) (a.) At this age, which we have mentioned, Hannibal went with his father into Spain.

The people whom you know being judges.

(b.) I opened the folds of the door in the narrow passage.

(7.) The Volscians, being beaten in a pitched battle, lost Volscæ, the best city which they had.

Agamemnon, when he had devoted to Diana the most beautiful thing which had been born in his kingdom in that year, sacrificed Iphigenia.

P. Volumnius placed in the list of proscribed persons L. Julius Calidus, the most elegant poet whom our age has produced since the death of Lucretius and Catullus.

(8.) Pausanias was unwilling to return to Sparta, and betook himself to Colonæ, which place is in the Troad.

(9.) The Helvetians are bounded on one side by the river Rhine, which separates the Helvetian territory from the Germans.

Cæsar determined to advance to the Scheldt, which flows into the Meuse.

(10.) The winds had carried me from Sicily to Leucopetra, which is a promontory of the Rhegian territory.

There is a river in Britain, which is called the Thames.

Cæsar came to Gomphi, which is a town of Thessaly.

(11.) A few conspired against

the republic, concerning which (conspiracy) I will speak as truly as possible.

(12.) You are not reading my words, who have been banished to the Ister.

(13.) The Lacedæmonians killed their king, Agis, (a crime) which never before had happened among them.

(14.) In regard to what you write, that you wish to know what is the state of the republic; there is very great discord.

(15.) The ambassador of king Attalus demanded, that the ships and captives, which had been taken in the naval battle at Chios, should be restored.

(16.) This I will very briefly say, that no one was ever so shameless, as silently to wish from the immortal gods so many and so great things as they have bestowed upon Cn. Pompey.

(17.) Hannibal had not expected that so many nations in Italy would revolt to him, as revolted after the defeat at Cannæ.

The other citizens in a state are wont to be such as are the leaders.

Be such, as you would wish to be considered.

The Volsci had prepared auxiliaries to send to the Latins. Incensed at this, the consuls led (their) legions into the Volscian territory.

Cassivellaunus sent forth his charioteers from the woods, and engaged with these, to the great hazard of our cavalry; and by this fear prevented (them) from making wider incursions.

R. 21. The peevishness of old men has some excuse, not, indeed, sufficient, but such as seems capable of being admitted.

Your grief (is) indeed natural, but (it) ought to be greatly moderated.

R. 22. I do not like it, that I have hitherto (received) no letter from you respecting these things.

R. 23. Q. Catulus was learned, not according to the ancient, but according to our manner.

The Capitol was built of hewn stone; a work to be admired even in the present magnificence of the city.

Julius Tutor and Julius Sabinus took part (in the conspiracy;) the former a Trevirian, the latter a Lingonian.

Neither Thracian Orpheus, nor Linus, shall excel me in song, although (his) mother should aid the former, and (his) father the latter; Calliopea Orpheus, and Linus the beautiful Apollo.

The rule of utility is the same as that of virtue.

As consul, you have shown yourself the same that you had always been.

The servants were of the same character as (their) master.

How feeble are the sayings of the rhetoricians concerning the power of virtue! Even those who assent to them, go away the same as they had come.

Virtue is the same in man as in God.

The Academicians and Peripatetics were once the same.

REFLEXIVES.

§ 208. Sui and suus properly refer to the subject of the proposition in which they stand.

Atticus did not recommend himself to (men) in their prosperity<sup>a</sup>, but always aided (them) in their calamity.

Agesilaus turned himself against Phrygia, and ravaged it, before Tissaphernes moved himself in any direction.

Eumenes imposed upon the prefects of Antigonus, and extricated himself and all his (men) in safety.

Hannibal perceived that he was aimed at, and that life ought not any longer to be retained by him.

Atticus non sui florens vendito, sed afflictus semper succurro.

Agesilāus in Phrygia sui converto, isque prius depopulor, quā Tissa-

I hesitate not to say that every nature is prone to the preservation of itself.

(1.) Hannibal ordered the lad to go around to all the doors of the building, and report to him quickly, whether he was blockaded in the same manner on all sides.

Themistocles discloses to the master of the ship who he is, making (him) great promises if he would save him.

(4.) Jugurtha sends ambassadors to Metellus, to demand only his own life and (the lives) of his children.

(5.) Reason and speech unite men together.

(6.) A deserter came into the camp of Fabricius, and promised him that he would return secretly, as he had come, into the camp of Pyrrhus, and would destroy him by poison.

(7.) Theophrastus robbed virtue of its ornament.

The Roman men did not envy the women their glory.

(8.) Perseus was able to commence the war at a time very favorable to himself, and disadvantageous to the enemy.

ABLATIVE.

§ 243. Opus and usus, signifying need, are usually limited by the ablative.

There is need of magistrates, without whose prudence and diligence the city cannot exist.

When the testimony of facts is at hand, what need is there of words?

The body, that it may be strong, has need of much food, much drink, much oil, lastly, of much labor.

It was decreed that Octavius should go to Rome, and should take back the ships which the consul did not need.

Is there need of any man's tormenting himself?

There is no occasion for a long speech.

The next (thing) is, that we should inquire whether there was any occasion for a fleet or not.

What occasion have you for our assistance?

What occasion was there for a letter?

I am now in want of your advice, your affection, and your fidelity.

There is no occasion for reason or argument, (to show) why pleasure should be sought for and pain avoided.

R. 1. There is need of haste.

There was no cause why there should be need of haste.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

§ 259. The indicative mood is used in independent and absolute assertions. It is often employed, also, in conditional and dependent clauses, to denote that which is supposed or admitted. It may likewise be used in interrogations.

The liberty of the Roman people is at stake.

The inclinations of the citizens have been different.

Fear made you good.

Our reasoning agrees; our language differs.

The remembrance of slavery will make liberty more pleasant.

A dispute about a word disturbs men.

How difficult it is not to betray guilt in the countenance!

Riches do not make a king.

He is a king who fears nothing.

In requiting a favor, we ought, if we believe Hesiod, to imitate fertile fields, which give much more than they have received.

If you are poor, Æmilianus, you will always continue poor: riches are now given to none but to the rich.

Behold the rainbow draws water; it will rain, I believe, to-day.

How often the greatest talents are hidden in obscurity!

As not every field which is cultivated is fruitful; so cultivated minds do not all bear fruit.

Who does not very highly commend Codrus, the preserver of Athens?

R. 1, (1.) Pompey said, "Do you guard and defend the camp; I will visit the other gates and encourage the garrison."

(2.) After the termination of the war, Cæsar learned these facts from those who were present at the conversation.

Do not envy your brother.

R. 2. I will satisfy you if I can.

R. 3. Volumnia ought to have been more attentive to you, and even that which she did, she might have done more carefully.

You ought long since to have been led to execution, by the command of the consul, (and) that destruction, which you have been long devising against all of us, should have been turned against yourself.

The army might have been destroyed, if any one had dared to conquer.

If men apply reason to fraud and malice, it would have been better that it had not been given, than given, to the human race.

There was a great dispute among the generals, whether they should defend themselves by their walls, or should meet the enemy, and engage in battle.

R. 2. You would have supposed that Sylla had come into Italy, not as the avenger of war, but as the promoter of peace; with so much tranquillity did he lead his army through Apulia and Calabria.

Could you have thought, that it could ever happen, that I should be at a loss for words?

Alexander uttered frequent groans, just as if the death of his own mother had been announced; you would have believed that he was weeping amidst his own connections, and not administering, but seeking consolation.

R. 3. Grant, indeed, that those are good things which are so esteemed, — honors, riches, pleasures, and the rest, — yet even in the enjoyment of these, immoderate joy is unseemly.

Grant that there is a difference between the dignity of the highest men and the lowest; there is not one degree of crime in killing illustrious men, and another, the obscure.

I should not reckon him second or third in a chariot-race, who has scarcely quitted the barriers, when the first has already received the palm.

The third mode of mining would outdo the work of the giants; galleries being carried through a great space, the mountains are excavated by torch-light.

I wish you to be persuaded that you can do nothing more acceptable to me, than to assist Lamia in his candidateship with all your resources.

It escaped me to write to you before about Dionysius; if it shall be necessary to send for him, (which I do not wish,) you will take care that we do not give him trouble against his will.

Assuredly I should not a little prefer the mind of Socrates to the fortunes of all those who sat in judgment upon him.

What can seem great to him in human affairs, to whom all eternity and the magnitude of the whole universe is known?

One furious gladiator carries on war against his country; are we to yield to him; are we to listen to his conditions?

R. 6. So live with an inferior, as you would wish a superior to live with you.

Let every one become acquainted with his own disposition, and show himself a severe judge both of his own good qualities and faults.

Do not allow it to happen, that when all (advantages) have been supplied to you by me, you should seem to have been wanting to yourself.

If I have defended my own safety against your brother's most cruel attack upon me, be satisfied that I do not complain to you too of his injustice.

1. They report that Alexander said, "If I were not Alexander, I would willingly be Diogenes."

There are innumerable things of the same kind which I could not endure, if I had not my friend Atticus as a partner of my pursuits.

These things seem ridiculous to you, because you were not present, which if you were to see, you could not help weeping.

If any one were to dig ground these plane-trees and water them, their branches would not be knotty, and their trunks unsightly.

If the gods were to make philosophy a vulgar good, if we were born wise, wisdom would lose what is the best part of it; it would be among accidental things.

2. The war carried on before Modena followed; in which, were I to call Atticus only prudent, I should say less than I ought.

Even in causes in which we have only to do with the judges, and not with the people, yet, if I were deserted by the audience, I should not be able to speak.

This is a common vice in great and free states, that envy is an attendant on glory, and (that) they willingly detract from those whom they perceive to be too eminent.

It is a custom of mankind, that they are unwilling that the same person should excel in many things.

Ariovistus replied that it was the right of war, that those who had conquered, should govern those whom they had conquered, as they pleased.

Joined with the evils of cities on the sea-coast, is also this great convenience, that they can carry what their lands produce into whatever countries they please.

In punishing injuries the law aims at these three things, either that it may reform him whom it punishes, or that by his punishment it may render others better, or that by the removal of bad men, the others may live more secure.

R. 1. Hannibal so united his troops by a sort of bond, that no mutiny (ever) existed either among themselves or against their general.

Oratory moves the minds of judges, and impels them, so that they either hate, or love, or envy, or wish (the culprit) safe, or pity, or wish to punish.

The harangues of Thucydides contain so many obscure and involved sentences, that they can scarcely be understood; which in civil eloquence is a very great fault.

Atticus so accepted the office of prefect to many consuls, that he followed no one to the province.

Cæsar found at Brundisium (only) so many ships as scantily sufficed for the transport of fifteen thousand legionaries (and) five hundred horse.

We are all servants of the laws, for this end<sup>a</sup>, that we may<sup>b</sup> be free. The Romans took<sup>c</sup> Cincinnātus from the plough, that he might be dictator. While<sup>d</sup> you are Pylādes, will you say that you are Orestes, that you may die for<sup>e</sup> your friend? The haughtiness of the last king had caused<sup>f</sup> liberty to be the more welcome<sup>g</sup>. Before old age I was at pains<sup>h</sup> to live well, in old age, to die well. Every creature<sup>i</sup> loves<sup>j</sup> itself, and is attentive<sup>k</sup> to preserve<sup>l</sup> itself. For my part, I<sup>r</sup> could wish<sup>s</sup>, that you would at last<sup>t</sup> return. Phaëthon desired<sup>u</sup> to be carried<sup>v</sup> in his father's chariot. The senate ordered<sup>w</sup> the decemvirs to inspect the Sibylline books. Cæsar resolved<sup>x</sup> to send ambassadors to Ariovistus. Cæsar directed<sup>y</sup> Dolabella to write to me, to come into Italy as soon as possible. Such is the confusion of all things, that every man regrets especially his own fortune; and there is no one who does not wish rather to be any where than where he is.

It cannot fail to be characteristic of the same man who approves the bad to disapprove the good.

Hortensius did not hesitate to defend P. Sulla.

There is no doubt<sup>a</sup> that he who is called liberal and kind<sup>b</sup>, aims at<sup>c</sup> (the discharge of) duty, not at profit<sup>d</sup>. Octaviānus was very near<sup>e</sup> perishing by the uproar<sup>f</sup> and indignation of the soldiery<sup>g</sup>, because he was thought<sup>h</sup> to have put a common<sup>i</sup> soldier to death<sup>j</sup> by torture<sup>k</sup>. Since the kingdom of Bithynia has become<sup>l</sup> the public property<sup>m</sup> of the Roman people, is there any<sup>n</sup> reason<sup>o</sup> why the decemvirs should not propose to sell<sup>p</sup> all the lands, cities, harbors, in short<sup>q</sup>, all Bithynia? R. 2. Pausanias, having been carried out half dead from the temple, immediately expired.

Hortensius having begun, when a very young man, to speak in the forum, speedily began to be employed for more important causes.

When Alcibiades was carrying on these projects, Critias and the rest of the tyrants of Athens sent trusty men to Lysander in Asia<sup>b</sup>.

Having been received with princely magnificence, we prolonged our discourse till midnight; the old man talking of nothing<sup>c</sup> but Africanus, and remembering<sup>e</sup> not only all his actions, but even all his words.

IMPERATIVE MOOD.

§ 267. The imperative mood is used, in the second person, to express a command, an exhortation, or an entreaty.

Begin, Damætas.

Sing, O Muses.

Practise justice and piety.

Let industry be praised.

Let crimes be punished.

Doubt, even now, judges, if you are able, by whom S. Roscius was slain.

Remove far hence, ye profane, and retire from the whole grove.

O Jupiter! preserve, I beseech (thee,) these blessings for us.

Conscript fathers, by the majesty of the Roman people, aid an unfortunate man; oppose injustice.

There is great efficacy in the virtues; arouse these, if perchance they slumber.

The god says to Semele, "Choose (for yourself;) you shall suffer no refusal. And that you may the more believe (this,) let the divinity of the Stygian flood also be witness."

Let kings be honored.

Be ye advised.

Let the first victor have a steed adorned with trappings.

Send ye a present to the Pythian Apollo, (and) keep yourselves from licentious joy.

INFINITIVE WITH THE ACCUSATIVE.

§ 272. The infinitive with the accusative depends on verbs and phrases, which denote either the exercise of the senses or intellectual powers, or the communication of thought to others.

Thou knowest that I love truth.

Do not forget that thou art Cæsar.

Poets feign that Briareus had a hundred arms and fifty heads.

Publius Scipio used to say, that he was never less idle than when idle, nor less alone than when he was alone.

Alexander ordered the tomb of Cyrus to be opened.

They say that Socrates replied to some one who complained that his foreign travels had done him no good, "Not without reason has this happened to you, for you travelled with yourself."

They say that there was a certain Myndarides of the city of the Sybaritæ, who, having seen (a man) digging and lifting his spade rather high, complained that he was made weary, and forbade him to do that work in his presence.

INFINITIVE AND SUBJUNCTIVE AFTER THAT.

§ 273. When the particle that, in English, introduces a clause denoting a purpose, object, or result, it is a sign of the subjunctive in Latin, and is to be expressed by ut, &c.; but otherwise it is usually the sign of the infinitive with the accusative.

1. If virtue can produce this effect, that one be not miserable, it will more easily cause that he be most happy; for there is less difference between a happy and a very happy (man,) than between a happy and a miserable (man.)

The sun causes every thing to flourish, and grow to maturity, in its respective kind.

Chrysippus has neatly said, as (he has said) many things, that he who runs in a stadium ought to strive and contend, as much as he can, to conquer, but ought by no means to trip up him with whom he is contending.

Every virtue attracts us to itself, and makes us love those in whom it appears to be found.

PRESENT.

R. 8. Law is a supreme rule, implanted in our nature, which commands those things which ought to be done, and forbids the opposite.

Every state must be ruled by some counsel, in order that it may be permanent; and that counsel must either be allotted to one, or to certain select persons, or must be undertaken by the multitude and by all.

ADVERBS.

§ 277. Adverbs modify or limit the meaning of verbs, adjectives, and sometimes of other adverbs.

They certainly err greatly, if they indulge the hope that my former lenity will continue forever.

Whom do I honor? Truly those who are themselves an ornament to the state.

Snows do not fall upon the deep sea.

The minds of soldiers are pleased with praises not less than with rewards.

I plainly perceive that we are not loved by our youth.

The hill was held by the Gauls with a garrison not very strong.

At no previous time did such consternation take possession of the senate.

PROSODY.

HEXAMETER VERSE.

§ 310. A hexameter, or heroic verse, consists of six feet. Of these, the fifth is a dactyl, the sixth a spondee, and each of the other four either a dactyl or a spondee.

The lines in the first four of the following exercises are already divided into feet, so that the scanning of them will be completed by marking, and proving the quantity of their syllables by the rules of prosody: the other lines must be divided, as well as marked and proved.

1. Aurea | prīma sǎ|ta est æ|tas, quæ, | vindīce | nullo,
Sponte su|ā, sinè | lēge fī|dei rec|tūque cō|lebat.
2. Pœna me|tusque abe|rant; nec | verba mi|nacia | fixo
Ære le|geban|tur; nec | supplex | turba ti|mebant
3. Judicis | ora su|i; sed e|rant sinè | vindīce | tuti.
Nondum | cæsa su|is, pere|grinum ut | viseret | orbem,
4. Montibus, | in liqui|das pi|nus de|scenderat | undas:
Nullaque | morta|les præ|ter sua | litora nôrant.
5. Nondum præcīpītes cingebant oppida fossæ;
Non tūba directi, non æris cornua flexi,
6. Non gāleæ, non ensis erant; sinè militis usu,
Mollia secūræ perāgebant otia gentes.
7. Ipsa quoque immunis, rastroke intacta, nec ullis
Saucia vomeribus, per se dabat omnia tellus:
8. Contentique cibus, nullo cogente, creatis,
Arbuteos fœtus montanaque fraga legebant,
9. Cornaque, et in duris hærentia mora rubetis,
Et, quæ deciderant patulâ Jovis arbore, glandes.
10. Ver erat æternum; placidique tepentibus auris
Mulcebant Zephyri natos sinè semine flores.

11. Mox etiam fruges tellus inarata ferebat ;
Nec renovatus ager gravidis canebat aristis.
12. Flumina jam lactis, jam flumina nectaris ibant ;
Flavaque de viridi stillabant ilice mella.
13. Postquam, Saturno tenebrosa in Tartara misso,
Sub Jove mundus erat, subiit argentea proles,
Auro deterior, fulvo pretiosior ære.
14. Jupiter antiqui contraxit tempora veris,
Perque hyemes, æstusque, et inæquales autumnos,
Et breve ver, spatiis exegit quatuor annum.
15. Tum primùm siccis, aër, fervoribus ustus,
Canduit ; et ventis glacies astricta pependit.
Tum primùm subiêre domos ; domus antra fuerunt,
16. Et densi frutices, et vinctæ cortice virgæ.
Semina tum primùm longis Cerealia sulcis
Obruta sunt, pressique jugo gemuêre juvenci.

PENTAMETER VERSE.

§ 311. A pentameter verse consists of five feet. It is generally, however, divided, in scanning, into two hemistichs, the first consisting of two feet, either dactyls or spondees, followed by a long syllable ; the last of two dactyls, also followed by a long syllable.

The following poem consists of alternate hexameter and pentameter lines, forming what is called elegiac verse.

Ariadne Theseo.

1. Quæ legis ex illo, Theseu, tibi litore mitto,
Unde tuam sinè me vela tulêre ratem.
2. Tempus erat, vitreâ quo primùm terra pruina
Spargitur, et tectæ fronde queruntur aves.
3. Luna fuit : specto si quid nisi litora cernam ;
Quod videant, oculi nil nisi litus habent.
4. Nunc huc, nunc illuc, et utròque sinè ordine curro,
Alta puellares tardat arena pedes.
Mons fuit ; apparent frutices in vertice rari ;
Hinc scopulus raucis pendet adesus aquis
5. Ascendo ; vires animus dabat ; atque ita latè
Æquora prospectu metior alta meo.
Inde ego, nam ventis quoque sum crudelibus usa,
Vidi præcipiti carbasa tenta Noto.

6. "Quò fugis?" exclamo, "scelerate, revertere, Theseu.
Flecte ratem; numerum non habet illa suum."
Hæc ego; quod voci deerat, plangore replebam:
Verbera cum verbis mista fuêre meis.
7. Quid faciam? quò sola ferar? vacat insula cultu:
Non hominum video, non ego facta boum.
Omne latus terræ cingit mare. Navita nusquam;
Nulla per ambiguas puppis itura vias.
8. Occurrunt animo pereundi mille figuræ;
Morsque minus pœnæ, quàm mora mortis habet.
Jam, jam venturos aut hæc, aut suspicor illac,
Qui lanient avido viscera dente, lupos:
9. Forsitan et fulvos tellus alat ista leones;
Quis scit an hæc sævas tigridas insula habet?
Et freta dicuntur magnas expellere phocas.
Quid vetat et gladios per latus ire meum?
10. Si mare, si terras, porrectaque litora vidi,
Multa mihi terræ, multa minantur aquæ.
Cælum restabat: timeo simulacra deorum.
Destituor rapidis præda cibusque feris.
11. Ergo ego nec lacrymas matris moritura videbo?
Nec, mea qui digitis lumina condant, erit?
Spiritus infelix peregrinas ibit in auras?
Nec positos artus unget amica manus?
12. Ossa superstabunt volucres inhumata marinæ?
Hæc sunt officiis digna sepulcra meis?
Ibis Cecropios portus; patriâque receptus
Cum steteris urbis celsus in arce tuæ,
13. Et bene narrâris letum taurique virique,
Sectaque per dubias saxea tecta vias.
Me quoque narrato solâ tellure relictam.
Non ego sum titulis surripienda tuis.
Nec pater est Ægeus; nec tu Pittheidos Æthræ
Filius: auctores saxa fretumque tui.
14. Dî facerent, ut me summâ de puppe videres!
Movisset vultus mœsta figura tuos.
Nunc quoque non oculis, sed, qua potes, aspice mente
Hærentem scopulo, quem vaga pulsât aqua.
Aspice demissos lugentis in ore capillos;
Et tunicas lacrymis, sicut ab imbre, graves.
15. Corpus, ut impulsæ segetes Aquilonibus, horret;
Literaque articulo pressa tremente labat.
Non te per meritum, quoniam malè cessit, adoro;
Debita sit facto gratia nulla meo;
Sed nec pœna quidem; si non ego causa salutis,
Non tamen est, cur sis tu mihi causa necis.

16. Has tibi, plangendo lugubria pectora lassas,
 Infelix tendo trans freta longa manus.
 Hos tibi, qui superant, ostendo mœsta capillos.
 Per lacrymas oro, quas tua facta movent,
 Flecte ratem, Theseu, versoque relabere velo.
 Si prius occidero, tu tamen ossa leges.

CÆSURA.

§ 309. Cæsura is the separation, by the ending of a word, of syllables rhythmically or metrically connected.

The following exercises consist of lines serving to illustrate the different kinds of cæsura. These may be formed into hexameter or pentameter verses by changing the position of one word in each line. The places in which each kind of cæsura occurs are to be marked.

1. Ipse dei clypeus terrâ cum imâ tollitur,
 Manè rubet; rubet terrâque, cum conditur imâ.
2. En, proles antiqua redit; virtus, concordia,
 Cumque fide pietas cervice altâ vagantur.
3. Robora nec cuneis, olentem scindere et cedrum,
 Nec plaustis cessant vectare ornos gementibus.
4. Sponte juvenco tuus florebit ager cessante;
 Oblatas mirabitur incola ditior messes.
5. Non propter vitam quidam faciunt patrimonia,
 Vitio cæci, sed propter patrimonia vivunt.
6. Sol fugit, et remonent subeuntia cælum nubila,
 Et effusis, gravis decidit imber, aquis.
7. Quòd si quis monitis aures tardas adverterit,
 Heu, referet quanto mea verba dolore!
8. Arte laboratæ puppes vincuntur ab æquore.
 Tu tua brachia plus remis posse putes?
9. Casta placent superis; venite purâ cum veste,
 Et manibus puris sumite aquam fontis.
10. Corpora sive flammâ rogos, seu tabe vetustas
 Abstulerit, posse pati non ulla mala putetis.
11. Multa dies, variusque mutabilis ævi labor,
 In melius retulit, multos alterna revisens
 Lusit, et in solido fortuna rursus locavit.

12. Alternis idem cessare tonsas novales,
Et patiêre segnem situ durescere campum;
Aut ibi flava, mutato sidere, seres farra.
13. Lucus erat nunquam violatus ab longo ævo,
Obscurum aëra cingens connexis ramis,
Et gelidas umbras, altè summotis solibus.
14. Interea colat pax arva; pax candida primùm
Duxit sub juga curva araturos boves.
Nitent pace bidens vomerque; at tristia duri
Militis situs in tenebris occupat arma.
15. Non domus et fundus, non acervus æris et auri
Deduxit ægroto domini corpore febres,
Non animo curas. Oportet valeat possessor,
Si uti comportatis rebus bene cogitat.
16. Hic sedes augusta deæ, colendi templique
Silex religiosa, densis quam pinus obumbrat
Frondebis, et procellà nullà lucos agitante,
Rami stridula coniferi modulantur carmina.

The lines in the exercises which follow may also be formed into verses by changing the arrangement of the words. The words printed in Italics are compound words, which must be divided, and, in one instance, a part is to be placed at the beginning of the next line.

1. Ego non falsa loquar: ter acutum ensem sustulit, Ter recidit manus malè sublato ense.
2. Sed timor obstitit et pietas ausis crudelibus,
Castaque dextra refugit mandatum opus.
3. Cor pavet admonitu noctis sanguine temeratæ,
Et subitus tremor præpedit ossa dextræ.
4. Pòstque tacitus venit, circumdatus fuscis alis,
Somnus, et vana somnia incerto pede.
5. Aures vacent lite, insanaque protinus absint
Jurgia: livida lingua, differ tuum opus.
6. Navita non moritur fluctu, non miles cuspide:
Oppida, immunia funerei lethi, pollent.
7. Iliados cantabitur conditor, atque Maronis
Altisoni carmina, facientia palmam dubiam.
8. Quàdcunque se medio agmine virgo furens tulit,
Hàc Aruns subit, et tacitus lustrat vestigia.

9. Tunc genitum Maiâ, qui reportet fervida dicta, Imperat acciri. Cylenius ales astitit,
Quatiens somniferam virgam, tectusque galero.
10. Atlantiades paret dictis genitoris, et inde
Summa pedum properè illigat plantaribus alis,
Obnubitque comas, et galero astra temperat.
11. Principio, mirantur non reddere mare majus,
Naturam, quò sit aquarum tantus decursus,
Quò veniant omnia flumina ex omni parte.
12. Jamque, surgens per confinia emeriti Phœbi, Titanis, latè subvecta silenti mundo,
Tenuaverat gelidum aëra roriferâ bigâ
13. Tale tuum carmen nobis, poeta divine,
Quale fessis in gramine sopor; quale per æstum
Restinguere sitim saliente rivo dulcis aquæ.
14. Ut sylvæ mutantur foliis in pronos annos,
Prima cadunt; ita vetus ætas verborum interit,
Et modò nata florent vigentque ritu juvenum.
15. Hic radiant flores, et viva voluptas prati,
Variata suo ingenio; illic fulgentibus
Toris strata surgunt; hic mollis herba panditur,
Non abruptura soporem sollicitum curis.
16. Quod caret alternâ requie, non est durable.
Hæc reparat vires, novat fessaque membra.
Arcus et arma tuæ Dianæ sunt imitanda tibi;
Si tendere nunquam cesses, erit mollis.
17. Æquoreæ aquæ miscentur; æther caret ignibus,
Cæcaque nox tenebris hyemisque suisque premitur.
Tamen discutiunt has, præbentque lumen micantia
Fulmina: undæ ardescunt fulmineis ignibus.
18. Movit et æôos recessus fama bellorum,
Quà Ganges colitur, qui solus in toto orbe
Solvere ostia contraria nascenti Phæbo,
Audet et impellit fluctus in adversum Eurum.
19. Hic purpureum ver; hic circumfundit flumina varios
—— humus flores; hic candida populus antro
Imminet; et lentæ vites texunt umbracula.
Huc ades: sine insani fluctus feriant litora.
20. Dixerat: ille pennas madidantes novo nectare
Concutit, et maritat glebas fœcundo rore.
Quàque volat, vernus color sequitur; in herbas omnis
Turget humus, medioque patent sereno convexa.

SYNALÆPHA AND ECTHLIPSIS.

§ 305, 1. A final vowel or diphthong is cut off in scanning, when the following word begins with a vowel. This is called synalæpha.

2. Final m, with the preceding vowel, is cut off, when the following word begins with a vowel. This is called ecthlipsis.

The exercises which follow are designed to exemplify the observations on cæsura, as well as the remarks in § 305 and § 306. The introduction of synalæpha or ecthlipsis will not therefore be sufficient to form them into verses, without a change in the position of the words. The sentences in English are intended to be translated into Latin verse, by an application of the rules of syntax, as well as of prosody, to the corresponding words in Latin, which follow them: in these exercises a change in the arrangement of the words is not necessary.

1. Nempe sylva inter varias nutritur columnas,
Laudaturque domus, quæ prospicit longos agros.
2. Vivite felices, et vivite memores nostri,
Sive erimus, seu fata volent nos fuisse.
3. Non pigeat agnamve fœtumve capellæ sinu,
Oblitâ matre desertum, referre domum.
4. Regumque ducumque res gestæ, et tristia bella,
Homerus monstravit quo numero possent scribi.
5. Addictus jurare in verba nullius magistri,
Deferor hospes, quòcunque tempestas rapit me.
6. Post ver, robustior annus transit in æstatem,
Fitque valens juvenis: enim neque robustior ætas
Ulla nec uberior, nec ulla est, quæ magis æstuet.
7. At nisi pectus purgatum est, quæ prælia nobis!
Tum scindunt hominem cupidinis quantæ acres
Curæ sollicitum! quantique timores perinde!
8. Poma quoque, ut primùm sensère valentes truncos,
Et habuère suas vires, raptim ad sidera
Nituntur propriâ vi, haud indiga nostræ opisque.
9. Hæc loca certè deserta et taciturna querenti,
Et aura Zephyri possidet vacuum nemus.

Hic licet impunè proferre occultos dolores,
Si modò saxa sola queant tenere fidem.

10. Nec inclementia rigidi cœli conterret eum,
Nec frigida vis Boreæ, minæ hyemisque.
Statim axe verso, quin exit protinus in auras,
Ut ferat læta nuncia instantis veris.
11. Dissensuque rumor alitur ; ceu murmurat alti
Pelagi impacata quies, cùm, fracto flamine,
Adhuc durat sævitque tumor, per dubiumque æstum
Lassa vestigia recedentis venti fluitant.
12. Aut si fata movent, paratur orbi generique
Humano lues matura ; dehiscunt terræne,
Subsidentque urbes ? an fervidus aer tollet temperiem ?
—— infida tellus negabit segetes ?
13. Utque, viribus sumtis in cursu, solent ire
Pectore in arma prætentæque tela feri leones ;
Sic ubi unda admiserat se ventis coortis,
In arma ratis ibat, erat multoque altior illis.
14. Tune potes audire murmura vesani ponti fortis ?
—— et potes jacere in durâ nave ?
Tu fulcire positas pruinas teneris pedibus ?
Tu, Cynthia, potes ferre insolitas nives ?
15. Qualis ubi Boreas erupit ab Arctoïs antris, Perverrens aerios campos rapido turbine,
It ferus cœlo, et insequitur piceas nubes toto æthere,
—— dant victa locum et cedunt cava nubila.
16. Sunt dulces herbæ ; sunt, quæ mitescere flammâ
Mollirique queant : nec lacteus humor eripitur vobis,
—— nec mella redolentia florem thymi.
Prodiga tellus suggerit divitias alimentaue mitia ;
—— atque præbet epulas sinè cæde et sanguine.

17. And now ambassadors came from the city of Latinus, Crowned with branches of olive, and supplicating favor.

Jamque orator adsum ex urbs Latinus,
Velatus ramus olea, veniaque rogans.

18. Scarcely had the next rising day fringed the tops of the mountains with light, When first from the deep ocean the horses of the sun raise themselves, And breathe forth the light of day from their panting nostrils.

Posterus vix summus spargo lumen mons
Ortus dies, cùm primùm altus sui gurgēs tollo
Sol equus, luxque elatus naris efflo.

SYNÆRESIS, SYNCOPE, AND APOCOPE.

§ 306. Two vowels which are usually separated, are sometimes contracted into one syllable. This is called synæresis.

§ 322, 4. Syncope is the omission of a letter or syllable in the middle of a word.

7. Apocope is the omission of the final letter or syllable of a word.

The contraction of one word, at least, in each of the following exercises is necessary, in order to form them into verses. The exercises, which are not translated, require a change in the position of the words, but in the English exercises this alteration of the arrangement will not be found necessary.

1. Rure levis apis ingerit flores verno alveo,
Ut sedula compleat favos dulci melle.
2. Prætereo sapiens argentea : periculum tolle,
Jam vaga natura prosiliet frænis remotis.
3. Super quæ ipse jacens, more hirsuti leonis,
Visceraque, et carnes, ossa obliisque medullis,
Semianimesque artus, condebat in avidam alvum.
4. Agros purgamus, agrestes purgamus, dii patrii;
Vos pellite mala de nostris limitibus.
Neu seges herbis fallacibus eludat messem;
Neu segnior agna timeat celeres lupos.
5. Cùm conditor urbis digereret tempora, in anno
Suo constituit bis quinque menses esse.
Romule, scilicet noveras arma magis quàm sidera;
Curaque major erat vincere finitimos.
6. Caprificus findit marmora Messalæ, et audax
Mulio ridet dimidios equos Crispi.
At nec furta nocent chartis, et prosunt sæcula,
Solaque hæc monumenta non noverunt mori.
7. Perpetuòque comans oliva jam deflorescit;
Et perosa diva fugit ærisonam tubam:
Iò fugit terris, et jam virgo non ultima
Creditor justa volavisse ad superas domos.
8. Tu mihi, currenti ad candida præscripta supremæ callis,
—— spatium præmonstra, Calliope, callida musa,
—— requies hominum, divorumque voluptas;
Ut capiam, te duce, coronam cum insigni laude.
9. Ille saucius pectus gravi vulnere venantium,
Tum demum arma movet leo; gaudetque comantes

Toros cervice excutiens, latronis fixumque
Telum impavidus frangit, et ore cruento fremit.

10. Then was life sweet to me ; nor had I any knowledge of cruel Arms, nor heard with a trembling heart the trumpet's sound.

Tunc ego vita foret dulcis ; nec tristis novissem
Arma, nec audivissem cor micans tuba.

11. Forcible, and perspicuous, and very much resembling a limpid stream, He will pour out his treasures and enrich Latium with a copious language.

Vehemens, et liquidus, purusque simillimus amnis,
Fundo opes, Latiumque beo dives lingua.

12. Why is any man in want, who has not deserved poverty, while you are rich ? Why are the ancient temples of the gods falling to ruins ? Why, O wicked man, Do you not, for your dear country, take something from so great a hoard ?

Cur ego indignus quisquam, te divite ? Quare
Templum ruo antiquus deus ? Cur, improbus, carus
Non aliquis patria tantus emetior acervus ?

13. Then Mercury took in his hand the wand, by which he had been accustomed to chase away sweet Dreams, and to bring them back again ; by which he had been wont to enter the gloomy Regions of the dead, and again to animate lifeless shades.

Tum dextra virga insero, qui pello dulcis
Aut suadeo iterum somnus, qui niger subeo
Tartara, et exanguis animo assuesco umbra.

14. The Zephyrs had heard the voice and the sighs of the complaining shepherd, And the winds sighed with him in mournful sounds : The river had heard him, and an echoing murmur to his murmurs The water returned, and a complaint to his complaints.

Audio Zephyrus vox gemitusque dolens,
Et mæstus ventus congemo sonus :
Audio rivus, resonusque ad murmur murmur,
Et questus ad questus, ingenino aqua.

15. Streams of silver flow over the verdant plains ; The sand, richer than Hesperian Tagus, appears as gold. Through the odoriferous riches the gentle air of the Zephyr breathes, A dewy air, springing up among innumerable roses.

Flumen vernans lambo argenteus campus ;
Ditior Hesperius, flaveo arena, Tagus.
Serpō odoriferus per opes levis aura Favonius,
Aura, sub innumerus, humidus, natus rosa.

16. Then the poet, rejoicing in the prosperous state of his country, Sought again the harmonious strings of his neglected lyre ; And having attuned with a slender quill its idle strings, He swept the renowned instrument of ivory with a joyful hand.

Tum, patria festus lætatus tempus, vates
Desuetus repeto filum canorus lyra ;
Et, reses lenis modulatus pecten nervus
Pollex festivus nobilis duco ebur.

17. Have you seen (surely you often see) that the drooping lilies wither, Which a shower of rain beats down? Thus did she waste away with a slow disease, thus did she grow pale, Her last day now drawing near its end.

Videone (quin sæpe video) ut languidus marceo
Lilium, qui prægravo imber aqua ?
Lentus sic pereo tabum, sic palleo ille,
Ad finis extremus jam properans dies.

18. The ship, weighed down by the slaughter of the men, and filled with much blood, Receives frequent blows on its curved side : But after it let in the sea at its leaking joints, Filled to its highest parts, it sunk in the waves.

Strages vir cumulatus ratis, multusque cruor
Plenus, per obliquus creber latus accipio ictus .
At postquam ruptus pelagus compages haurio,
Ad summus repletus forus, descendo in unda.

19. He admires at a distance the arms and empty chariots of heroes. Their spears stand fixed in the ground, and at liberty in different places Through the plains their horses feed : that care of their chariots And of their arms, which they had when alive, that care their shining Horses to train up, the same follows them, though interred in the earth.

Arma procul currusque vir miror inanis.
Sto terra defixus hasta, passimque solutus
Per campus pascor equus : qui gratia currus
Armaque fuit vivus, qui cura nitens
Pasco equus, idem sequor tellus repositus.

DIÆRESIS, EPENTHESIS, AND PARAGOGÉ.

§ 306, 2. A syllable is often divided into two syllables. This is called diæresis.

§ 322, 3. Epenthesis is the insertion of a letter or syllable in the middle of a word.

6. Paragoge is the addition of a letter or syllable to the end of a word.

Besides the introduction of one of the preceding figures into each of the following exercises, the arrangement of the words must be changed ; in the exercises which are translated, this change may be confined to one word only in each line.

Cuncta suo ordine. Tum silentia facta linguis,
Et Venulus parens dicto ita infit fari.
5. Hæc præterea duo oppida disjectis muris,
Vides reliquias veterumque virorum monumenta.
Hanc pater Janus condidit, hanc urbem Saturnus;
Janiculum fuerat nomen huic, illi Saturnia.
6. Quassæ puppes ducuntur in cava navalia,
Ne temerè dissolvantur in mediis aquis.
Ne cadat, et inhonestet multas palmas adeptas,
Languidus equus carpit gramina in pratis.
Miles, ut non est satis utilis emeritis annis,
Ponit ad antiquos Lares arma, quæ tulit.
7. Qualis ubi nimbus sidere abrupto ad terras
It per medium mare, heu, præscia longè miseris
Agricolis corda horrescunt; ille dabit ruinas
Arboribus stragemque satis, latè ruet omnia.
Venti antevolant, ferunt sonitumque ad litora.
Rhæteus ductor talis in adversos hostes.
8. Urbs quoque et tutela tuarum legum lassat te,
Et morum, quos cupis esse similes tuis.
Nec otia, quæ præstas gentibus, contingunt tibi;
Bellaque irrequieta geris cum multis.
In hoc pondere tantarum rerum, mirer igitur
Te nunquam evolvisse nostros jocos.

9. Ivory surrounds the courts; the roof is rendered firm by brazen beams; And ores rise up into lofty columns.

O Macedonian, I will not commend your tears ; your humane sorrow I applaud, O Persian, and am willing to weep with you.

Macedo fleo, sui totus ubi debello orbis,
Et indignatur arma nihil (sync.) supersum suus.
 Fleo Xerxes, quòd suus de mille nemo, ætas,
 Proximus cùm venio, nemo sum superstes.
 Nolo tuus lacrymas, Macedo ; ego laudo dolor
 Humanus, et tucum, Persa, volo doleo.

Simple and Compound.

48. Lucifer, the morning star, arose above the mountain Casius, And ushered in the day to Egypt, glowing with the rising sun.

Lucifer prospicio a Casiâ rupe, diesque
Immitto in Ægyptus, primus quoque sol calens.

49. First behold the oceans, the kingdoms, and the heaven. The same day shall assign them all to destruction, and, though through many years Preserved, the fabric and system of the universe shall perish.

Principio mare, ac terra, cælumque intueor.
 Dies unus do exitium, multusque per annus
 Sustentatus, ruo moles et mundus machina.

50. The gods have shown you to us, as a welcome star to the tossed vessel, Which, having weathered two storms, Is still beaten by the waves, and which, its pilot being baffled, is hurried along at random.

Tu ego, ceu sidus dulcis trepidus carina,
 Ostendo deus, geminus, qui, prolapsus procella,
 Tundor, et, victus magister, trahor jam cæcus.

51. I did not, when a child in my early years, address to you, O my mother, endearing words, Uttered with a lisping tongue. I did not embrace your neck with my infant arms, Neither did I sit a pleasing burden on your knee.

Non tu blanditiæ, meus mater, in primus annus,
 Incertus os dictus, puella fero.
 Non ego capto tuus collum (enall.) brevis lacertus,
 Nec gremium insedeo sarcina gratus tuus.

52. When, therefore, the years, as they gently pass away, old age Gradually bring on, he views approaching death in the frame of mind, With which he, who has been tossed about with long-continued tempests, Holds in sight a port, and a refuge from his labors.

Ergo senectus annus, ut labor (enall.) leniter,
Cum sensim fero, mors iste mens propinquus
Aspicio, ut longus, qui, actus tempestas,
Portus teneo in conspectus, effugiumque malorum.

53. Thus Boreas, when first rising, shakes with a gentle breeze the waving branches, And murmurs through the quivering Leaves; soon becoming fiercer, he blows out each of his cheeks, And shakes the strong trunks of the trees with their lofty tops.

Haud aliter lenis flamen nutans ramus
Surgens agito Boreas, tremulusque susurro
Per frons: mox bucca uterque inflo animosior,
Et validus quasso truncus cum vertex (enall.) celsus.

54. Afterwards, when all the strength of Boreas has been collected, and a greater blast Through the whole wood is heard, from their deepest roots The ancient oaks on the ground he lays, and increases the boisterous storm, And covers all the grove with an extended ruin.

Pòst, ubi vis (enall.) colligor, (enall.) majorque tumultus
Per totus sylvæ audior, ab radix imus
Prosterno humi antiquus quercus, rapidusque procella
Glomero, latusque impleo nemus omnis ruina.

55. Mars heard these words, and from the snowy rocks of Æmus He rises, and thus with a loud voice urges his active attendants; "Bring to me, O Bellona, my helmet; my car, O Fear, prepare; let Terror yoke my rapid steeds."

Audio (sync.) ille pater, nivales scopulusque Æmus
Assurgo, et hortor celer clamor minister;
"Affero galea, Bellona, ego; nexusque rotarum Tendo, FAVOR; fræno rapidus jugalis Formido."

56. A bird, fearing the hawk, with trembling wings Dares, when weary, to come for refuge to a human bosom. Nor does the frightened stag, when flying from the savage dogs, Hesitate to trust herself to a neighboring house.

Accipiter metuens, ales penna trepidans
Audeo humanus fessus advenio sinus. (enall.)
Nec sui committo vicinus dubito tectum
Effugiens (enall.) infestus, territæ cervæ, canis.

57. Remember also that the mind, injured by long rust, Grows dull, and is much less vigorous than it formerly was. The fertile field, if it be not continually renewed by the plough, Will produce nothing but grass with thorns. The horse, who shall have stood still for a long time, will run badly, and among the horses Sent from the starting-place, will run last in the race.

Adde quòd ingenium læsus longus rubigo
Torpeo, et sum multò minor quàm sum antè.
Fertilis, si non renovor assiduò (enall.) aratrum,

Nihil (sync.) habeo, nisi cum spina gramen, ager.
 Qui longus tempus sto, malè curro, et inter
 Carcer (enall.) demissus, ultimò (enall.) eo equus.

Repetition and Conjunction.

58. Hope supports the husbandmen, and commits to the ploughed furrows The seeds, which the land may return with a great increase.

Spes alo agricola, et sulcus credo aratus
 Semen, qui reddo magnus fœnus ager.

59. The spring is very beneficial to the leaves of the groves and to the woods. In the spring the lands swell and ask for the genial seeds.

Ver adeo frons (enall.) nemus, et utilis sylva:
Ver tumeo terra et semen genitalis posco.

60. We are exploring other abodes and worlds. An ardent desire of being carried in a fearless flight through the vast expanse of space Impels us. It is delightful, O it is delightful to go among the shining worlds In the air, to roam over the wandering stars of the lofty heaven.

Ego sedes alius et exquiro orbis.
Ego feror vastum per inane impavidus volatus
Ingens amor urgeo. Juvat, O juvat eo per ignis
Ætheris, (enall.) lustrò vagus lumen altus cœlum.

61. But now I wander alone through the woods and the meadows, Where the sylvan shades are thick in the valleys. Here I wait for the evening. Above my head the rain and the wind Sound mournfully, and the gloom of the shattered forest is disturbed.

At jam solus ager et pascuum oberro,
Sicubi ramosus umbra densor vallis.
Hic expecto serum. Supra caput imber et Eurus
 Sono tristè, fractusque agitor (enall.) crepusculum (enall.) sylva.

62. A race temperate and sagacious, industrious and provident, How peacefully and wisely do the bees pass their life! They have among them the social regulations of a city; to every one is appointed his share of labors and his duties.

Gens frugi et prudens, providus et operosus, vita
 Quàm placidè perago et sapienter apis!
Urbs habeo consortium (enall.) inter suisui; quique
 Sto suus pars opus et munia.

63. Atlas carries the world on his strong shoulders, and bent double by its weight is covered with sweat, and toils under the immense burden. What sinews, and neck, and arms, What strong joints in the legs, must so heavy a load require! O go on warily, for if the least slip Should befall your steps, we are all lost.

Robustus fero mundus humerus, et sudo pondus curvus,
 ——— et ingens moles Atlas laboro.
Qui nervus, et cervix, et brachia, crurum
 Quàm validus nexus, onus tam gravis posco!
 O cautè incedas, nam minimus si tibi lapsus
 Offendo gressus, ruo (enall.) omnia.

Sum and Verb Neuter.

64. Here, where Rome now is, was once an unlopped grove, And the city now so large was once a pasture-ground for a few oxen.

Hic, ubi nunc Roma sum, incæduus sylva sum (vireo), Tantusque res sum paucus pascuum bos.

65. But the abode of the wicked lies hidden in thick darkness, Around which are gloomy rivers.

 ——— qui circum flumen niger sum (sono.)

66. Soon also distress was inflicted on the corn, so that noxious Mildew consumed the stalks, and the unfruitful thistle was in the fields. The standing corn dies, and a rough wood succeeds.

Mox et frumentum (enall.) labor additus, ut culmus malus
 Edo rubigo, segnisque sum (horreo) in arvum
 Carduus. Seges intereo, (enall.) subeo asper sylva.

Sum and Habeo.

67. Not if I had a hundred tongues, and a hundred mouths, And a voice of iron, could I mention all the species of crimes, Nor enumerate all the names of their punishments.

Non ego si linguas centum habeam, oraque centum,
 Ferrum (enall.) vocem, omnis comprehendo (sync.) scelus forma,
 Possum omnis pœna percurro nomen.

68. The Naiad Amalthea, illustrious in Cretan Ida, is said to have hidden Jupiter in the woods. She was possessed of a she-goat, the beautiful mother of two kids, Distinguished among the Dictæan flocks.

Nais Amalthea, Cretæus Ida nobilis,
 Dicor in sylva Jupiter oculo.
Hæc habuit hædus matrem formosam duo,
 Inter Dictæus grex conspiciendam.

69. With horns lofty and bending upon her back, With an udder which might belong to the nurse of Jupiter, she gave milk to the god, but she broke her horn against a tree, and was deprived of the half part of her beauty.

Cornu aerius atque in suos tergum (enall.) recurvus,
 Uber, qui nutrici posset esse Jupiter,

Ille lac do deus ; sed frango in arbor cornu,
Truncusque sum dimidiis pars decus.

70. This broken horn the nymph took up, and brought it wound round with fresh flowers And full of apples into the presence of Jupiter. He, when he possessed the sovereignty of heaven, and sat on the throne of his father, And nothing was greater than unconquered Jove, Changed into stars his nurse and his nurse's fruitful horn, To which even now is applied the name of her mistress.

Nymphæ tollo hic, cinctusque recens herba,
Et pomum plenus, ad Jupiter os (enall.) fero.
Ille, ubi res (enall.) cælum teneo, soliumque pater (enall.) sedeo,
—— et nihil (sync.) invictus Jupiter major sum Facio sidus nutrix, nutrix fertilis cornu,
—— cui domina nunc quoque nomen esse.

Active and Passive.

71. Autumn produces apples; the summer is beautiful with the harvests; Flowers are given us by the spring; fire alleviates the winter.

Autumnus pomum do ; formosus sum messis æstas ;
Vere præbentur flores ; ignis levat hyemem.

72. The huntsman knows well where he may spread his nets for the stags; He knows well in what valley the foaming boar lingers. Fowlers know the shrubs. He, who holds the hooks, Knows what waters are swum in by many fish.

Venator scio bene cervus ubi rete tendo ;
Scio bene qui vallis moror frendens aper.
Aucupes noscunt (enall.) frutices. Qui sustineo hamus,
Novi qui aqua multus piscis (enall.) nator.

73. There is no delay ; they weeping begin their work ; and are emulous to heap the altar of the funeral pile With trees, and to raise it toward heaven. They repair to an ancient wood, the deep retreats of savage beasts. The firs fall down ; the oak, cut down with axes, falls crashing ; And beams of ash and the yielding oak are cleft with wedges ; They roll from the mountains huge ash-trees.

Haud mora ; flens festino, araque sepulcrum
Congero arbor certo, cælumque educo.
Eunt in antiquus sylva, stabulum altus fera.
Picea procumbo ; sono, ictus securis, ilex ;
Fraxineus trabs, cuneus et fissilis robur scinditur ;
—— advolvo ingens ornus mons.

Variation of Case.

74. She had duly presided over the temple for many years, And performed the cruel rites with an unwilling hand ; When two youths arrived in a ship with sails, And pressed with their feet our shores.

Præsum templum multis is ritè annis,
 Et perago (enall.) invitus tristis sacra manus;
 Cùm duo juvenis velifer venio carina,
 Premoque suus pes (enall.) littus noster.

75. Their age was the same, as well as their love for each other; one of them was Orestes, The other was Pylades. Fame still preserves their names. They are instantly led to the cruel altar of Diana, Bound with both their hands behind their backs.

Par sum horum ætas et amor; de quibus alter Orestes, Alter Pylades sum. Nomen fama teneo.
 Protinus Trivia ducor immitis ad ara,
 Evincti geminas manus ad suus tergum.

76. And while the priestess prepares the sacrifice, and covers their temples with fillets, And still invents causes for her long delay, "Pardon me, O youths," she said; "I am not thus cruel. I perform sacrifices more barbarous than the country itself."

Dumque sacrum paro, et (enall.) velo tempora vitta,
 Et (enall.) tardus causa usque invenio mora,
 "Non ego crudelis, ignosco, juvenis," dico;
 "Sacra quàm suus facio barbarior locus."

77. "This is the rite of the nation. But from what city do you come? Or why have you made such a voyage in a ship so little fortunate?" She said; and, the name of their country having been told her, the pious virgin Finds them to be inhabitants of her own city.

"Ritus is sum genti. E qua tu tamen urbe venio?
 Quove peto (sync.) parùm faustus puppis iter?"
 Dico; et auditus patria nomen, pius virgo
 Consors sum urbs comperio suus.

78. "But let one of you," she said, "fall a victim in our rites. Let the other go as a messenger to my native land." Pylades, ready to die, urges his beloved Orestes to go. He refuses; and each contends to die in the stead of the other.

"Alter at vestrum," inquam, "cado hostia sacra.
 Ad patrius sedes eo nuntius alter."
 Pylades eo jubeo carus periturus Orestes.
 Hic nego; uterque inque vicis pugno morior.

79. While the honorable youths carry on this contest of love, She writes to her brother a letter. She gave her written commands to her brother, and he to whom they were intrusted, (Behold an instance of the vicissitude of human affairs,) was her brother.

Dum pulcher juvenis perago certamen amor,
Fratri scriptas exaro ille notas.
Fratri mandatum do, quique ille do,
 Frater (humanos casus aspicio) sum.

80. There is no delay; they hurry away the statues of Diana from the temple, And a ship carries them secretly through the immense waters. The wonderful friendship of these youths, although so many years have passed, has even now great renown in Scythia.

Nec mora; templo rapio simulacrum Diana,
Clamque per immensus fero (enall.) puppis aqua.
Mirus amor juvenis, quamvis tot annus abeo,
In Scythia nunc quoque magnus nomen habeo.

81. Neither do the violets nor the opening lilies always flourish, And the deserted thorn grows stiff, the rose being lost; And soon hoary hairs will come to you, O lovely youth! Soon will wrinkles come, which will make furrows in your skin.

Nec semper viola nec hians lilium floreo,
Et rigeo spina relictus, amissus rosa:
Et ad te jam canus venio, formosus, capillus;
Jam venio ruga, qui tuum corpus arent.

82. Form now an understanding which may last, and add it to your beauty; That alone remains to the last day of life. Nor let it be made a trifling concern to cultivate the mind with the liberal arts, And to learn perfectly two languages.

Jam molior animus, qui duro, et forma astruo;
Ille solus ad extremos permaneo rogos.
Nec levis ingenuis pectus colo artibus
Cura sumi, et edisco duo lingua.

83. I have often, though unwillingly, drunk bitter juices when sick, And the feast has been denied to me, though asking for it. You will endure sword and fire that you may save the body; Nor, though thirsty, will you wash your parched mouth with water. Will you, then, refuse to bear any thing that you may be well in mind? But this part of man is of more value than the body.

Sæpe bibo succus æger, quamvis invitus, amarus;
—— et mensa negor (enall.) ego orans.
Ut corpus redimo ferrum et ignis (enall.) patior,
Nec sitiens aridus os (enall.) levo aqua.
Ut valeo animus quisquam nego tolero?
At pretium pars hic quàm corpus majus habet.

Synonymous Words.

84. Alas! when you least expect it, in the very flower of youth, Death suddenly cuts off at once all the hope of the family.

Heu! minimè cùm reor, in juvena ipse flos,
Mors inopinatè (enall.) domus spes protinus abripio cunctus.

Aspero ; et rigeo dirus inclementia forma.

95. As the sea quivers when it is brushed by a gentle breeze, As the tender branch of the ash is shaken by the warm south wind, So you might have seen my pale limbs tremble ; The bed was shaken by my body that was laid on it.

Ut æquor fit tremulum tenuis cùm stringor ventus,
Ut stringor tepidus fraxini (enall.) virga notus,
Sic meus vibror pallidus membrum video ;
Quassus ab corpus, quod inpositus sum (enall.) lectus sum.

96. What indeed can it profit one who is about to die to know the causes of things, To connect things that are present with things to come, to roam in thought Beyond the sun and the stars ? Surely The same law of death, and the same common grave, await us all.

Ecquid enim prosum causa res cognosco,
Conjungo (enall.) venturus præsens, animus vagor
Sol atque sidus super, moriturus ? Scilicet cunctus
Unus letum lex maneo, et communis sepulcrum.

97. The land of the Romans had not anciently any skilful husbandmen ; Fierce wars wholly occupied its active inhabitants. There was more honor in the sword than in the curved plough ; The neglected land produced but little to its owner.

Non habeo terra peritus antiquè (enall.) colonus ;
Lasso agilis asper prælium vir.
Plüs sum in ferrum quàm curvus honor aratrum ;
Neglectus dominus paucus (enall.) produco ager.

98. You are accustomed often to ask me, Priscus, what sort of man I should be, If I were suddenly to be made rich and become powerful. Do you, then, think that any one can say what his future conduct will be ? Tell me, now, if you were to become a lion, what sort of a lion should you be ?

Sæpe quæro soleo, qualis sum, Priscus, futurus,
 Si fio locuples sumque subitò pollens.
 Quisquam possum puto mos (enall.) dico futurus !
 Dico ego qualis, si fio tu leo, sum ?

99. But neither the woods of the Medians, that most fertile land, Nor the celebrated Ganges, and the river Hermus thick with its golden sands, Can vie with the praises of Italy, not Bactra, nor the Indians, Nor all Panchaia rich in soils producing frankincense.

Sed neque Medi nemus, ditissimus regio,
 Nec pulcher Ganges, et auro turbidus Hermus,
 Laus Italia contendo, non Bactra, neque Indi,
 Omnis et thurifer Panchaia dives arena.

100. But here in Italy are no ravening tigers, nor the savage race of lions ; Nor do poisonous herbs deceive the wretched people who gather them. Neither does the scaly serpent here sweep his immense folds along the ground, nor to a vast Length extended, curl himself into a circle.

At rabidus tigris absum, et sævus semen (enall.) leo ;

 Muto (enall.) dominus, et in alter (enall.) jus (enall.) cedo.

103. Neither should you fear that his mind, becoming, perhaps from his regard to futurity, Somewhat averse to the duties of life, should refuse to bear labors, And encounter dangers, if the public good should require it. This indifference to worldly things Rather makes the man free and vigorous, and in all things that he undertakes Bold and invincible ; and it strengthens him in all difficulties.

Nec timeo quidem ne fortasse, ad munia vita
 Segnior, hinc mens recuso perfero (enall.) labor,
 Et periculum (sync.) fero, voco si publicus usus.

 Roboro externus rerum hic despicientia.

ELLIPSIS.

§ 323, 1. Ellipsis is the omission of some word or words in a sentence.

Many of the lines in the following exercises will require an alteration in the arrangement of the words, as well as the introduction of the figure ellipsis, before they can be formed into verses.

1. O Britain, fairest abode of liberty, let this happier lot be thine, To escape both the fate of Rome and the guilt of Rome.

Sum tibi, o sedes pulcherrimus libertas, melior sors, _____ nescio et fatum (enall.) Roma et crimen (enall.) Roma.

2 Gray hairs also have not yet spoiled the beauty of my jetty locks, Neither has crooked old age with a slow step approached.

Et nondum canus lædo meus niger capillus,
 Nec curvus senecta venio tardus pes.

3. The poplar tree is the most acceptable tree to Hercules, the vine the most acceptable to Bacchus, The myrtle the most acceptable to lovely Venus, to Phæbus his own laurel is the most acceptable.

Populus Alcidæ sum gratissimus arbor, vitis gratissimus Iacchus, Myrtus gratissimus formosus Venus, Phæbus sum gratissimus suus laurea.

4. O wretched me ! with what vast waves are the shores beaten ! How is the day also hidden, obscured by thick clouds !

O ego miser ! quantus fluctus (enall.) litus plangor !
 Et dies lateo, conditus nubes (enall.) obscurus !

5. You now I warn. Happy art thou, who, from another's misery, Shalt learn how to escape thine own misery.

Vos nunc ego moneo. Felix sum tu, quicumque, dolor
 Alter, disco possum careo tuus dolor.

6. He who advises that you should do that which you are already doing, while he advises Applauds you, and by his advice commends your conduct.

 Laudo tu, et comprobo actus (enall.) suus hortatus.

7. The brooks are dry ; the meadows are despoiled of their beauty by the mildew ; And nothing that felt the blast survives. I saw the flowers fade, I saw the roses die, and I saw the lilies languish.

Rivus deficio ; pratum squalleo rubigo ;
Et nihil afflatus vivo. Video ligustrum palleo, Expiro rosa video, decresco lilium et ego video.

8. A garden adorned with odoriferous flowers was near, Divided as to its ground by a stream of water softly murmuring : There Tarquin the secret messages of his son Receives, and he cuts down with a rod the tallest lilies.

Hortus cultissimus odoratus gramen (synon.) subsum,
Sectus secundum humus rivus aqua sonans lenè :
Illic Tarquinius latens suus filius (synon.) mandatum
Accipio, et ille meto virga summus lilium.

9. When the messenger returned, and reported that the lilies were cut down, His son exclaimed, "I understand the orders of my father." Nor was there any delay. The chiefs of the city Gabii being slain, The defenceless walls are surrendered to his generals.

Ut nuncius redeo, (sync.) decussusque lilium dico,
Natus (synon.) suus aio, "Ego agnosco jussum meus parens."
Nec ullus mora sum. Princeps ex urbs Gabina cæsus, Mœnia nudus trador suus dux.

10. As many shells as the sea-shores have, as many blossoms as the fragrant beds of roses have, As many seeds as the sleep-bringing poppy has, By so many distressing things am I afflicted ; which if I should attempt to number, I might as well attempt to tell the number of the waves of the Icarian sea.

Litus quot concha habeo, quot flos rosarium amœnus habeo,
Quotve granum soporifer papaver habeo,
Tot adversus res premor ; qui comprehendo (sync.) si ego conor,
Ego conor dico numerus Icarius aqua.

11. Man alone, who is capable of acquiring knowledge, who has an ardent desire Of tracing out the causes and mutual relations of things, Enters on a vain pursuit ; for death hangs over him with sable wings, And arrests him in the midst of his journey as he is hurrying on.

Homo solus, qui sum sagax scire, cui sum summus cupido
Scrutari causa et res fœdus mutuus,
Ingredior vanus iter ; namque immineo is niger ala,
Et in medius cursus intercludo is iens mors.

12. Whither do you madly haste ? Although you should possess each Ocean, and although Lydia should pour forth for you her golden streams, And although the throne of Cræsus and the diadem of Cyrus should be added to these riches, You never will be rich, you never will be satisfied with gain.

Quò vesane tu ruo? Tu teneo uterque licebit oceanus,
 ——— et Lydia laxo tu suus rutilus fons,
 Et solium Cræsus Cyrusque tiara jungor,
 Sum nunquam dives, nunquam satior quæstus.

13. He, who is always desiring more, is always poor; contented with a little, honorably obtained, Fabricius despised the gifts of kings; And the consul Serranus labored at the heavy plough; And an humble cottage held the heroic Curii.

Ille, quicumque cupio, sum semper inops; contentus honesto
 Parvo, Fabricius sperno inunus rex;
 Sudoque Serranus consul gravis aratrum;
 Et angustus casa tego pugnax Curii.

14. When I ask you for money without security, you say, "I have not any money;" Yet you, the same person, have money, if my field is security for me. O Thelesinus, that which you will not trust to me, an old friend, You trust to my lands and to my trees. Behold, Carus has arrested you as a criminal; let my field help you. Do you ask for a companion in your exile? let my field go with you.

Cùm ego rogo nummus (enall.) de tu (enall.) sinè pignus,
 "Ego non habeo nummus," inquo;
 Tu idem homo habeo nummus, si pro ego spondeo meus agellus.
 Is qui non credo ego, vetus sodalis, Thelesinus,
 Colliculus meus credo arborque meus.
 Ecce, Carus defero tu reus; meus agellus tu adsum.
 Tu quæro comes exilium? meus agellus eo.

EPITHETS.

The words printed in Italics in the following exercises are substantives, which either require epithets to be added to them, or which have adjectives connected with them that may be omitted. A different arrangement of the words will be required in almost every line.

1. But you, O robbers and wolves, spare this little flock: Your prey should be taken from a herd.

At tu, furque lupusque, parco exiguus pecus:
 ——— præda sum petendus de grex.

2. O Nile, nature has never discovered to any one your source, Neither has it been allowed to the inhabitants of the earth to see you a small river.

Natura non prodo ullus tuus (ellip.) caput,
 Nilus, nec licet populus video tu parvus.

3. Horace also has delighted my ears, While he brings forth from his Ausonian lyre refined songs.

Et Horatius teneo meus (enall.) auris,
Dum ferio Ausonius lyrâ cultus carmen.

4. An image of Minerva is said to have fallen from heaven Upon the lofty heights of the Trojan city.

Cæleste signum Minerva credor
Desiluisse in altus jugum Iliacus urbs.

5. At the entrance of the hollow cave, the habitation of the god of sleep, poppies in abundance grow, And herbs innumerable; from the juice of which Humid Night collects her sleepy power, and extends it over the earth.

Ante fores cavus antrum, fœcundus papaver floreo,
Et (synon.) innumerus herba; qui de lac sopor
Nox lego, et humidus per terra (enall.) spargo.

6. Thus the violence of the winds, and the rain from which they wished to be screened, compelled mankind at first To build huts with straw, And to plaster their humble habitations around with mud.

Sic vis ventus vitandique imbres primùm adegit homo,
———— stipula (enall.) tectum ponere,
———— et claudo arctus sedes (enall.) linus.

7. Nor are the wives of the East less renowned in fame: Neither with tears, nor with female cries, Do they deplore their husbands' death; but, strange to be related, They ascend the funeral pile, and are consumed in the same devouring flames with their lifeless husbands.

Nec Eous uxor minùs celebror fama:
Ille non lacrymæ, non fœmineus ululatus,
Ploro fatum (enall.) vir; (sync.) verùm, mirabilis dicor,
Conscendoque rogos, flammaque (enall.) vorax voror idem.

8. The echoing wood resounds with the songs of birds, and every Shrub and every grove rings with music: The blackbirds also join their tuneful notes, and the doves their plaintive sounds; The harmonious lark from above pours forth its strains.

Sylva vocalis resono chorus avis, atque (synon.) omnis
Virgultum et omnis nemus ferveo harmonia:
Et merula misceo numerus gemitusque palumbes;
Canorus alauda addo desuper modus.

9. He, who once refused to the needy worthless fragments of food, Now lives himself on food obtained by begging. Fortune wanders about with uncertain steps, And in no place remains constant and fixed

Vilis qui quondam nego (sync.) alimenta miser,
Nunc pascor ipse cibus mendicatus.
Fortuna vago (synon.) ambiguus passus,
Et permaneo (enall.) certus tenaxque in nullus locus.

10. But virtue does not produce these evils: we confidently assert, That if every one faithfully performed her sacred duties, Nothing would appear more desirable than sacred virtue; then would the golden ages return: But it is not our lot to live in a golden age.

At virtus non parturio hic in alium: immo fateor,
Si quisque perago suus munia fideliter, sum
Nihil (sync.) potior sacer virtus; jam tum redeo aureus
Sæculum: verum non contigit vivo aureus (syncr.) ævum.

11. In the shady vales in the midst of Ida, there is a place Retired, and abounding with oaks and pitch trees, A place, which has never been touched by the mouth of the ox, Nor of the sheep, nor of the goat delighting in rocks.

In nemorosus vallis medius Idæ, sum locus
Deviis, et piceus atque (synon.) ilex frequens,
Qui nec ovis, nec capella amans rupes, (synon.)
Nec carpor os bos.

12. Nor, O wicked man, while life remains, are you free from painful punishments: Although you may deceive mortal men, yet you cannot fly from yourself; The avenging furies disquiet you; care, a harassing attendant, preys on you, And dwells as a tormentor in your conscience, which is still mindful of your crimes.

Nec, improbus, dum vita maneo, des nullas ærumnosas pænas:
Quamquam fallo mortalis homo, tamen haud ipse effugio tu;
Diræ ultrix tu agito; tu cura remordeo, comes sævus,
————— memorque sub pectus habito vindex.

13. The horse obeys the reins in time, And receives with a quiet mouth the hard bits. The fierceness of the African lions is subdued by time, Nor does that savage wildness remain in their disposition, which was once in it.

Equus obedio (synon.) habena tempus,
Et recipio (synon.) placidus os durus lupus.
Ira Pænus leo cohibeor (synon.) tempus,
Nec ferus feritas permaneo (enall.) animus, qui sum antè.

14. Thus the mourning nightingale bemoans under the shade of a poplar Her lost young, which a cruel countryman, Discovering them in their nest, had stolen unfledged; thus she Grieves through the dark night, and, sitting on a bough, her song Renews, and fills the places around with her piteous complaints.

Qualis mœrens philomela sub umbra populus (enall.)
Queror amissus fœtus, qui durus arator,
Cernens (synon.) nidus, implumis detraho; at ille
Nox cæcus fleo, ramusque sedens, carmen
Integro, et impleo latè locus suus (ellip.) mœstus questus.

15. She fears all things and she hopes for nothing: thus anxious, as she is returning with food, is the bird, Who has left her young in a lowly shrub, And thus, while absent from them, is she apprehensive of many evils; She fears lest the wind should have torn her nest from the tree, Lest her young should be exposed as a plunder to man, or a prey to serpents.

Omnis (synon.) paveo speroque nihil: sic ales æstuo,
 Qui committo fætus humilis ornus,
 Allaturus cibus, (enall.) et plurimus cogito absens;
 Ne ventus discutio nidus arbor,
 Ne furtum pateo homo, neu coluber præda.

16. A moth is flying around my burning candle; And now, and now again it almost burns its little wings. Often with my hand I keep it back when approaching, and "O moth," I cry, "what great desire to die urges you on?" Still it returns; and, although I strive to save it, It perseveres, and rushes into the flames and into death.

Musca volito circum meus exurens lucerna;
Alaque parvus suus amburo jam prope, jamque.
 Sæpe repello manus is (ellip.) veniens; et "Musca," Inquam, "quis tantus libido morior impello tu?"
 Ille tamen redeo; et, quanquam conor (synon.) servo,
 Insto, et irruo (enall.) in flamma exitiumque.

PERIPHRAISIS.

§ 323, 2, (4.) Periphrasis is a circuitous mode of expression.

The words in the following exercises, which are enclosed within parentheses, are examples of the periphrasis, and are to be substituted for the corresponding word in the line. When two or more Italic words occur in a line, they must be omitted, and the meaning, which they are designed to convey, expressed by one word only. When there is only one word in a line printed in Italics, it is intended to be omitted, and its meaning expressed by a periphrasis.

1. Thus does the lioness rage when confined in a narrow den, And breaks her fierce teeth by biting her prison.

Sic læna fremo (fera nobilis) in claustrum (enall.) parvus abditus,
 Et rabidus dens frango carcere præmorso.

2. Whither shall I be carried? where shall I seek comfort in my affliction? No anchor now holds my bark.

Quò feror? unde (lapis rebus) peto solatium (enall.) miseria?
 Jam nullus anchora (non ulla) teneo) meus (enall.) ratis.

3. Farewell, ye mossy fountains, ye woods, And ye Muses, and the dreams of fabled Pindus.

Valeo muscosus fons, (sylvestria tecta) sylva,
 Musaque (Aonides deæ,) et somnium Pindus mendax.

4. Not far hence herds of cattle wander through the spacious fields, And sheep roam over the joyful pastures.

Nec procul hinc armentum vagor (synon.) per latus ager,
Ovisque (lanigeri greges) persulto lætus pabulum.

5. Then also the birds in safety flew, And the hare wandered fearlessly in the midst of the fields, Nor had their easy credulity hung on the hook the inhabitants of the rivers.

Tunc et avis (movère pennas per aëra) tutò (enall.) volo,
Et lepus impavidè (enall.) erro in medius ager,
Nec sua credulitas fluminum incolæ suspendo hamus.

6. The astonished cultivators of the fields see rugged brakes Sweetly blooming with roses, and hear with surprise among parched sands The noisy murmurings of a river.

Attonitus cultores agrorum video dumetum incultus
Suaviter (enall.) rubens (enall.) rosa, sitiensque inter arena
Miror garrulus rivus (epithet) murmur.

7. Arrayed in their shining arms, thrice around the blazing Piles they ran; thrice the mournful funeral fire They encompassed on their steeds, and yelled aloud.

Ter, cinctus nitens (synon.) arma, circum accensus
Rogus curro; (enall.) ter inæstus funereus (enall.) ignis
Lustro in suos (ellip.) equus, ululoque (ululatus ore dedere.)

8. O robin, a guest most welcome to every house, Whom the severity of the cold compels to seek the aid of man, That thou mayst escape the frosts of the wintry air, O fly hither, And dwell in safety under my roof.

Rubecula (hospes avis,) conviva domus quivis gratissimus,
Qui inclementia frigoris cogo quæro homo (enall.) opem,
Huc O confugio, ut fugio frigus hibernus cælum,
——— et vivo tutus (synon.) sub meus lar.

9. That thou mayst relieve thy hunger, food in my window I will place every day; For by experience I have learned that thou wilt repay with a grateful Song whatsoever food any kind hand may bestow.

Unde relevo tuus esuries, alimentum (enall.) fenestra
Appono quotidie (quoties itque reditque dies;)
Etenim usus edisco quòd rependo alimentum (enall.) gratus
Cantus, quicunque dono (synon.) bonus (synon.) manus.

10. In the early spring, when the warm breezes gently blow, And when on every tree its vernal honors bloom, Thou mayst freely return to the groves and revisit the sylvan shades, In which music delightful and equal to thine resounds.

Ver novus, cùm tepidus aura molliter spiro,
Et suus honos (enall.) verno in quivis arbor,
Pro libitu ad nemus (synon.) redeo sylvestriaque tecta reviso,
In (ellip.) qui musica lætus parque tuus resono.

11. But if again, but if by chance again, the cold Should bring back to my house my beloved bird, Be thou, O returning bird, be thou mindful to repay with a grateful song Whatsoever food any kind hand may bestow.

Sin iterum, sin fortè iterum, frigus
 Reduco ad meus tectum (enall.) carus (synon.) avis,
 Sum, redux, memor sum rependo gratus cantus
 Pabulum, (enall.) quicumque benignus manus do.

12. The Molossian hounds fondly caressed the hare then free from danger, And the tender young of the sheep drew near the wolf; The deers played in peace with the tigress; The stags feared not the African lion.

Molossi blandè (enall.) foveo tutus (synon.) lepus,
Tenerque ovis fœtus appropinquo (synon.) vicinum præbuit latus lupus;
 Concors dama cum tigris (epithet) ludo;
 Cervus non pertimesco (synon.) Massylus juba.

13. From you shall descend the brave Achilles, Known to his enemies not by his back but by his undaunted front, Who, always a victor in the uncertain contest of the race, Shall outstrip the speed of the swift deer.

Achilles (expers terroris) tu nascor fortis,
 Hostis haud tergum sed pectus impavidus (synon.) notus,
 Qui, persæpe victor vagus certamen cursus,
 Præverto (flammea vestigia) celeritas cerva celer.

14. But me first above all things may the sweet Aonian goddesses receive into their favor, Whose sacred symbols, smit with ardent love to them, I bear; And may they show me the paths of heaven, and the starry orbs, The various eclipses of the orb of Phœbus, and the labors of the moon.

Ego verò primùm ante omnis dulcis Aonides deæ,
 Qui sacra fero, magnus (synon.) amor percussus,
 Accipio; cælum atque (synon.) via, et sidereos orbis monstro,
 Varius defectus Phæbi orbis, lunaque labor.

15. The god of fire fought against Troy, the god of music for Troy; The mother of Æneas was friendly to the Trojan people, the goddess of war was unfriendly. The sister and wife of Jupiter, favorable to Turnus, hated Æneas; yet he was secure under the protection of Venus. Often did the fierce ruler of the sea attack Ulysses; Often did Pallas rescue him from the brother of her father

Ignis deus sto in Troja, musicæ præses pro Troja;
Æneæ mater sum æquus Trojano populo, iniqua belli dea.
 Proprior Turnus, Jovis soror et conjux Æneas oderat;
 Tamen ille sum tutus numen Venus.
 Sæpe ferox pelagi domitor Ulysses (epithet) peto
 Sæpe Pallas (synon.) suus patris fratre eripio

16. And as a ravenous wolf both seizes on and carries away Through the cornfields, through the woods, the sheep, which has not gone into the fold, So, if the hostile barbarian finds any one in the plains Not yet received within the city, he hurries him away;
He then either follows him as a captive, and receives chains cast upon his neck, Or falls by a poisoned arrow.

Utque rapax pecus, qui non intro (se texit) ovili,
Per seges, (synon.) per sylvā, lupus feroque trahoque,
Sic, si qui, acceptus (synon.) nondum (portarum sepe) oppidum,
Barbarus hostis in campus reperio, (epenth.) ago;
Aut captus sequitur ille, (ellip.) coniectusque catena (synon.) collum accipio,
—— aut pereo (synon.) venenatus telum (virus habente.)

17. So when a shepherd, while he is collecting branches of trees in the woods, Has wrapped among the leaves a serpent asleep with cold and stiff with frost, And without having seen it, has brought it to the fire; There is no delay; scarcely has it felt the flames near it, When the serpent both lifts up its head, and now also turns around its fiery eyes, And moves erect through the house with its forked tongue.

Sicut ubi, dum arborum brachia colligo in sylvā, anguis
Frigor sopitus, pastor, rigens brumaque,
Frons implico, appono (synon.) ignisque inscius;
Nullus est mora; propius vix perféro flamma, cum (et jam)
Attolloque suus (ellip.) caput, jamque lumen igneus torqueo,
Perque tectum (synon.) mico arduus anguis (synon.) os trilinguis.

MISCELLANEOUS EXERCISES.

The first twenty-two of the following exercises are designed to be literally translated into Latin verse: the words will require a different arrangement, but every word may stand in the same line in Latin, in which it is found in English. The remaining exercises are intended to be more freely translated, and the words in one line may often be introduced into the preceding or following verse.

1. The lamb in company with the wolf (sociata lupo) shall gambol (lasciviet) in (per) the valleys,
And the steer shall go (petet) with the lion in safety (tutus) to the stall, (præsepe.)
2. Thus (qualia) the lilies hang down (declinant) their withering (pallentes) stalks,
And blooming (pubentes) roses die beneath the first chilling blasts, (ad primos austros.)
3. And now the morning star (Lucifer) fringed (stringebat) the lofty Æmus with his (ellip.) rays,

And he urges on the rapid chariot (festinam rotam) more speedily than usual, (solito properantior.)

4. And I feared all these things, because I knew (videbam) that I deserved them ; (ellip.)

But your anger is lighter (lenior) than my crime, (peccato.)

5. Let the heaven supply (ellip.) dews sweet as nectar, (nectareos), and let it viands (epithet)

Supply, and shed (irriget) silently fertilizing showers, (imbres.)

6. The sea was bright (radiabat) with the image of the reflected (repercussæ) moon,

And in the night (epithet) there was a light (nitior) like the light of day, (diurnus.)

7. Let him indeed (sanè) receive the price (mercedem) of blood, and look as (et sic)

Pale (palleat) as the man (ellip.) who has trodden on (pressit) a serpent with naked feet, (calcibus.)

8. And now the sea began to redden (rubescibat) with the morning (ellip.) rays, and from the lofty sky (æthere)

The saffron Morn (lutea Aurora) arose in her rosy chariot, (bigis.)

9. Drops (enall.) wear a stone hollow, (cavo ;) a ring is worn out (consumitur) by use ;

And the crooked ploughshare is worn away (teritur) by the earth rubbing against it, (pressâ.)

10. You see that anger, lust, (libido), vice, (scelus), every where prevail, (dominentur),

And deceit (fraus) counterfeiting friendship, and malignant envy,

And feuds, and treachery, (insidiæ), and the snares (retia) of unequal law.

11. Around the tame tiger (mansuetæ tigri) flowery bands the sportive (petulantes)

Boys in play (per ludum) shall cast, and serpents the wearied

Limbs of the traveller shall refresh by licking them with their cold tongues, (recreabunt frigore linguæ.)

12. The field by degrees shall grow yellow (flavescet) with soft ears of corn, (aristâ),

And the blushing grape (rubens uva) shall hang on the rough (in-cultis) brambles,

And hard oaks shall distil (sudabunt) dewy honey. (enall.)

13. O sleep, thou (ellip.) rest (quies) of all (ellip.) things, O Sleep, thou gentlest (placidissime) of the gods,

Thou peace of the mind, from whom care flies away, who the body (corda), by its (ellip.) daily

Toils (ministeriis) exhausted (fessa), dost refresh and recruit for labor.

14. Often, too, when the wind is rising, (vento impendente,) you will see stars
 Falling (labi) swiftly (enall.) from (ellip.) heaven, and, through the shades (umbram) of night,
 Long trains (tractus) of flame (enall.) gleaming (albescere) behind them, (a tergo.)
15. Under this tree the dewy (madidi) Fauns (Fauni) often danced, (luserunt,)
     And their (ellip.) pipe heard in the night (fistula sera) alarmed the quiet family, (domum;)
 And, while they fled (fugit) through the solitary (solus) fields from midnight Pan, (nocturnum Panu,) Often under this tree (fronde) a rural Dryad (Dryas) lay concealed, (latuit.)
16. O mossy fountains, and grass (herba) more soft than sleep, (somno mollior,)
 And the green arbuté-tree, (arbutus,) that covers you with its thin (rará) shade,
 Keep off the heat (solstitium) from my flock, (pecori;) now comes the summer
 Scorching; now the buds swell on the vine, (epithet.)
17. Beneath a hedge, and often (nec rarò) on the margin of a bank, there is a little Reptile, (the glow-worm,) which glitters by night, and lies concealed (latet) by day.
 Ye great, lay aside your pride, (fastus,) and no longer (nec) despise the lowly,
     Since even (et) this little (minimum) reptile has something (ellip.) which is splendid, (niteat.)
18. In early spring, when the snow (periph.) on the hoary mountains Is dissolved, and the crumbling (putris) glebe unbinds itself by the Zephyr,
 Then (periph.) under the deep-pressed (depresso) plough, let my ox begin
 To groan, and the ploughshare, worn bright (attritus) by the furrow, begin (ellip.) to glitter.
19. Illustrious souls! if mortal things at all affect (quid tangunt)
 The inhabitants of heaven, (calicolas,) if there is still with you (ellip.) any regard (cura) for the British race,
 I beseech you, renew (vos instaurate) our ancient vigor;
 That, sloth (somno) being shaken off, we may at length aspire (nitamur) to noble things, (ardua,)
 Mindful of true virtue, and of our fathers' (avita) fame.
20. Thus the Laguean (Lagea) bark, while in the vast ocean like an island
 It appeared, (conspecta,) struck against (illisit) the rocks, where the east wind, (epithet,)

Scattering ruin around, (naufragium spargens,) blocks up (operit)
 the sea ; and now on the waters
 Both planks, (transtra,) and masts, and colors, (aplustria,) with (ellip.) the torn sail,
 And seamen, (epithet,) striving against (removes) the waters, float.

21. For some (pars) commit the dead body to the earth,
 And strew garlands on the tomb, and obsequies yearly Pay, as though the shades of the dead (manes) required such offerings.
 Others, (pars,) the funeral pile being in order raised, burn on it the bodies (artus) of the dead, (ellip.)
 And collect their ashes, and place them in the faithful urn.
22. Their life was like the life (ellip.) of a beast, spent without any regularity ; (nullos agitata per usus ;)
 They were a savage people, and destitute as yet of knowledge.
 They had (nōrant) for houses leaves, for food (frugibus) herbs ;
 Water, drunk out of their two hands, was their nectar.
 No ox panted under the curved ploughshare ;
 No land was under the cultivation (imperio) of the husband-
 man, (colentis.)
23. Night had wrapped all things in darkness and in her silent shade,
 And deep sleep had seized on weary man.
24. The birds were now singing, and the sun hastened from the east,
 To open with a purple smile the day.
25. The shepherd guides his flocks ; he now takes in his arms the tender lambs,
 And gives them, while cherished in his bosom, the sweetest herbs ;
 He now seeks for the sheep that are lost, and brings back the wandering.
26. The third morning had from the heavens removed the cold shades of night, (ellip.)
 When they sorrowfully collected together (ruebant) on the hearths the high-raised (altus) ashes and
 The bones intermingled with each other, and placed over them a warm mound of earth.
27. Begone, ye sleepless cares ; begone, complaints,
 And the host of envy, with her "jealous leer malign ;" (transverso tortilis hircuo ;)
 Nor thou, O cruel calumny, bring hither thy envenomed scoffs, (anguiferos rictus.)
28. Thus (talis) the Parthian lord leads from the Tigris
 His barbarian troops, and proudly adorns his head
 With regal chaplets, gems, and rich attire.

29. For now Eurus collects his strength from the purple east ;
 Now Zephyr approaches hasting from the west, (sero vesperemissus.)
 Now cold Boreas rages (bacchatur) from the dry north ; (Arcto ;)
 Now the south wind joins the contest with an opposing front.
30. Androcles, who had fled as an exile from the anger of his master, Wandered over the parched sands of Libya.
 At length, when wearied and exhausted by his journey, (labore virarum,)
 A secret cave presented itself to him at the side of a rock.
31. He enters the cave ; and scarcely had he committed his wearied limbs to sleep,
 When suddenly an immense lion roars in the cavern.
 It lifted up its wounded foot, and, uttering a mournful cry,
 It implored, as well as it was able to implore, the assistance of Androcles.
32. The fugitive slave, struck with the novelty of the circumstance, and hesitating with fear,
 Scarcely at length moves his trembling hands to the assistance of the lion ; (ellip.)
 But, after having examined the thorn, (for a thorn stuck in the wound,)
 He carefully and tenderly draws it out of the lion's foot.
33. Now again he roams through the sylvan shades, and the groves ;
 and, like an attentive host,
 Brings to the cave for Androcles constant food.
 The man, as the lion's guest, sits down to the feasts prepared for him, (ellip.)
 And hesitates not to partake of the undressed provisions.
34. But who could bear to live thus solitarily in a cheerless desert ?
 (tædium desertæ vitæ.)
 Scarcely could the rage of a revengeful master be more terrible.
 The slave at length resolves to expose his devoted head to certain dangers,
 And again to seek his paternal abode.
35. Here he is given up by his master ; and, doomed to afford a cruel entertainment to the people,
 He stands in the theatre as a wretched criminal.
 By chance the same lion that he had assisted in the desert, (ellip.) fierce and raging with hunger, rushes from the dens,
 And looks with an astonished countenance on his physician.
36. He looks at him, and, as an old friend recognizing his former guest,
 He lies down at his well-known feet caressing him, (blandulus.)

This prodigy (ellip.) was the work of nature alone : she alone, who gave to the lion all his rage,
 She alone induced him to repress it.

37. The dove, that has been wounded by thy talons, O hawk,
 Is alarmed at the least rustling of a wing.
 The lamb, that has been at any time rescued from the jaws of a rapacious wolf,
 Never dares again to wander from the fold.
38. Happy is the man, who has spent his days in his paternal fields, Whom the same roof shelters (videt) when an old man, that sheltered him when a boy ;
 Who leaning on his staff, on the same sand on which he once crept as a child, (ellip.)
 Relates the long history (sæcula) of his single habitation.
39. Fortune has not led him through the innumerable vicissitudes of life ; (vario tumultu;)
 He has neither as a traveller (periph.) tasted of foreign waters ;
 Nor as a merchant has he feared the seas, nor as a soldier the trumpet's sound ;
 Neither has he undergone the contentions of jarring courts of law.
40. The lofty oak he (qui) remembers when it hung as an acorn
 (ellip.) on a little branch,
 And he sees the grove of the same age with himself, with himself grow old.
 But yet unbroken is his strength, and the third generation sees him
 A grandsire still robust with vigorous limbs.
41. For the men add to the noise (sonant) by their clamor, the ropes by their rattling,
 The heavy waters by the dashing of the waves against each other,
 (undarum incursu,) and the sky by peals of thunder.
 The sea ascends in mighty waves, and seems to reach the heavens,
 And sprinkles the contiguous clouds with briny dew.
42. May I never so misapply the powers of my mind,
 As to become the flatterer of kings and the promoter of vice ;
 Nor may I spend the short space, that I can steal from the grave,
 In fawning and cringing (caudam submittam) like a fearful dog.
43. There is near the Cimmerians (Cimmerios) a cave in a long recess,
 Formed of a hollow mountain, the palace and retired abode of lazy Sleep ;

Into this cave the sun, whether rising, or on the meridian, (mediusve,) or setting,
Is never able to penetrate with his rays. Fogs, mixed with darkness,
Are exhaled from the ground, and a glimmering (crepuscula) of dubious light.

44. Again, to show what virtue, and what wisdom can accomplish, Homer (ellip.) has exhibited Ulysses to our view as an instructive example,
Who, having subdued Troy, viewed with an observant eye the cities
And manners of many nations, and,
While seeking for himself and his associates the means of returning over the wide ocean to their own land, (ellip.) Endured many hardships, yet could never be overwhelmed by the waves of adversity.
45. See lofty Lebanon his head advance !
See nodding forests on the mountain dance !
46. Ah me ! the blooming pride of May (Maii)
And that of beauty are but one :
At noon both flourish bright and gay ;
At evening fade, are pale and gone.
47. When winds approach, the vexed sea heaves around ;
From the bleak mountain comes a hollow sound ;
The loud blast whistles o'er the echoing shore ;
Rustle the murmuring woods, the rising billows roar.
48. So the sweet lark, high poised in air,
Shuts close his pinions to his breast,
If chance his mate's shrill note he hear,
And drops at once into her nest.
49. Nations behold, remote from reason's beams, (ellip.)
Where Indian Ganges rolls his sandy streams,
Of life impatient, rush into the fire,
And willing victims to their gods expire,
Persuaded (percussa cupidine cecâ) the freed soul to regions flies,
(sedes ubi fata dedere quietas,)
Blest with eternal spring and cloudless skies.
50. Subdued at length, he owns Time's heavier tread,
Bowed with the weight of ages on his head :
So on some mountain's top the lofty pine,
With years and tempests worn, in slow decline
Droops to the chilling rains, the stormy gales,
While wasting age its trembling boughs assails.

LYRIC AND DRAMATIC MEASURES.

In the following table, the numbers in the first column denote the kinds of metre employed in the subsequent exercises; those in the second column refer to the sections, &c. of the Grammar in which those metres are explained. The metres not referred to the Grammar are not found in the ancient Latin classics, but their explanation is subjoined to the table

1, § 310, I.	12, § 312, VI.	23, § 314, VII.	34, § 316, III.

10, *	21, " V.	32, }
11, *	22, " VI.	33, } " II.

* The following are the metres above referred to, and which are not contained in the Grammar.

2. The hexameter meiurus is a defective hexameter, having an iambus in the sixth foot instead of a spondee.
5. The Æolic pentameter consists of four dactyls, preceded by a spondee, a trochee, or an iambus.
6. The Phalæcian or Phaleucian verse consists of the penthemimeris of a hexameter, followed by a dactyl and a spondee.
9. The tetrameter meiurus or Faliscan consists of the last four feet of the hexameter meiurus.
10. The tetrameter acephalus is the tetrameter a posteriore wanting the first semifoot.
11. The tetrameter catalectic is the tetrameter a priore wanting the last semifoot.
30. The trochaic dimeter consists of four feet, the first and two last of which are always trochees, and the second a trochee, spondee, dactyl, or anapest.

The first thirty of the following exercises are designed to be scanned; the succeeding thirty-four require the order of the words to be changed, in order to the lines being formed into verses; the remaining exercises are intended to be translated. The figures prefixed to the exercises refer to the preceding table.

No. 25, 36, 25, 36, 25, 36.

69. Although The wind roar, Agitating the waters and covering them with ruins, You, happily screened By the strength of your unmoved rampart, Shall serenely spend your days, Smiling at the fury of the wind.

Tono quamvis, ruina
 Æquor miscens, ventus,
 Tu, quietus conditus
 Feliciter (enall.) vallus robur,
 Ævum serenè (enall.) duco,
 Irridens (enall.) ira (enall.) æther.

No. 35.

70. Orpheus, the Thracian bard, bewailing Long since the death of Eurydice, his wife, After he had by his mournful strains made The woods move, and the flowing Rivers stand still, The stag fearlessly drew near the fierce lions, Nor did the hare fear The dog before her, that was now rendered harmless by the song.

Conjux funus (enall.) quondam
 Gemens, Threicius vates
 Postquam modus flebilis
 Curro sylva, mobilis
 Amnis cogo sto,
 Jungoque latus intrepidè (enall.)
 Leo sævus cerva,
 Nec timeo lepus visus
 Canis, jam cantus placidus.

No. 35.

71. When a more violent Passion burned within his breast, And the strains, which had subdued all things around him, Could not soothe the sorrows of him, from whom they proceeded, Complaining of the cruel deities, He went to their infernal abodes. There, bringing tender strains From his harmonious strings, He weeps, and moves even the infernal regions, And with a sweet prayer Solicits pardon and favor of the gods of the shades.

Cùm intima flagrantior
 Pectoris fervor ureret,
 Nec, qui subigo cunctus,
 Modus mulceo dominus,
 Querens superi immitis,
 Domus infernus adeo.
 Illic, sonans chorda blandus
 ——— temperans carinen,
 Defleo, et moveo (enall.) Tænara,
 Et prece dulcis venia
 Rogo umbra dominus.

No. 35.

72. Cerberus, the three-headed guardian of the entrance, stands amazed, Captivated by the unusual song. The cruel goddesses, the avengers of crimes, Who are the authors of miseries, Are now bedewed with tears in sorrow. The rapid wheel hurries not round The body of Ixion; And Tantalus, a prey to long-continued thirst, Heeds not the waters near him. The vulture, while he is delighted with the strains, Tears not the liver of Tityus.

Tergeminus stupeo, novus
Janitor, captus carmen.
Sontes, qui malum agito,
Dea, ultrix scelus,
Jam mæstus madeo lacrymæ.
Non caput Ixionius
Rota velox præcipito;
Et, perditus sitis longus,
Tantalus flumen sperno.
Dum sum modus satur, vultur
Non traho jecur Tityi.

No. 35.

73. At length the monarch Of the shades, commiserating his sorrows, says, "We yield. Let us give to the bard as a companion His wife, redeemed by his song: But let this condition accompany the gift, That it shall not be lawful for him to look behind him, Until he shall have left these regions." Who shall lay a restraint on lovers? Alas! when near the boundaries of the realms of night, Orpheus looked back on his Eurydice, Lost her, and was undone.

"Vincor," tandem arbiter
Umbra aio miserans,
"Dono vir comes
Conjux, carmen emptus:
Sed donum (enall.) lex coerceo,
Ne, dum relinquo (enall.) Tartara,
Fas sum flecto lumen."
Quis amans lex det?
Heu! prope nox terminus, Orpheus
—— suus Eurydice
Video, perdo, et (asyn.) occido.

No. 28.

74. The mighty labors of Hercules render him illustrious:
He overcame the proud Centaurs;
He stripped from the fierce Nemean (ellip.) lion his skin;
He pierced also the harpies (volucres) with his unerring darts.

No. 28.

75. He took from the watchful dragon the golden (ellip.) apples;
He dragged along Cerberus in a three-fold chain:
The conquering hero (victor) is said to have placed their cruel
Master as food before the fierce steeds of Diomed. (ellip.)

No. 23.

76. The hydra was destroyed by a burning (combusto) poison;
The god of (ellip.) the river Achelous, maimed (turbatus) in his forehead,

Hid his face, covered with shame, beneath his waters (ripis ;)
He laid Anteus prostrate on the African sands.

No. 23.

77. Cacus appeased by his death (ellip.) the anger of Evander ;
And the shoulders (ellip.) of Hercules (ellip.) which the mighty (altus) globe was soon to press with its weight,
These shoulders the boar (setiger) of Arcadia (ellip.) stained with his foam ;
His last labor supports on his shoulders the heavens.

No. 17.

78. When all thy mercies, O my God (Jehova,)
    My rising soul surveys,
Transported with the view, I'm lost (mens hæret)
    In wonder, love, and praise.

No. 17.

79. O how shall words with equal warmth
    The gratitude declare,
That glows within my ravished breast ?
    But thou canst read it there.

No. 17.

80. To all my weak complaints and cries
    Thy mercy lent an ear,
Ere yet my feeble thoughts had learned
    To form themselves in prayer.

No. 17.

81. Unnumbered (quæ nullus æquat computus) comforts to my soul
    Thy tender care bestowed,
Before my infant heart conceived
    From whom those comforts flowed.

No. 17.

82. When in the slippery paths of youth
    With heedless steps I ran,
Thine arm, unseen, conveyed me safe,
    And led me up to man (ævum maturius.)

No. 17.

83. Through hidden dangers, toils, and deaths,
    It gently cleared my way,
And through the pleasing snares of vice,
    More to be feared than they.

No. 17.

84. When worn with sickness, oft hast thou
 With health renewed my face,
 And when in sins and sorrow sunk,
 Revived my soul with grace.

No. 17.

85. Thy bounteous hand with worldly bliss
 Has made my cup run o'er (sat superque me beârit copia,)
 And in a kind and faithful friend
 Has doubled all my store.

No. 17.

86. Ten thousand thousand precious gifts
 My daily thanks employ,
 Nor is the least a cheerful heart,
 That tastes those gifts with joy.

No. 17.

87. Through every period of my life
 Thy goodness I'll pursue,
 And after death, in distant worlds,
 The glorious theme renew.

No. 17.

88. When nature fails, and day and night
 Divide thy works no more,
 My ever-grateful heart, O Lord,
 Thy mercy shall adore.

No. 17.

89. Through all eternity, to thee
 A joyful song I'll raise;
 But, O, eternity's too short
 To utter all thy praise!

No. 25. — 10 Lines.

90. Little cricket, full of mirth,
 Chirping on my kitchen hearth,
 Wheresoe'er be thine abode,
 Always harbinger of good,
 Pay me for thy warm retreat
 With a song more soft and sweet;
 In return thou shalt receive
 Such a strain as I can give.

No. 25. — 10 Lines.

91. Thus thy praise shall be expressed,
 Inoffensive, welcome guest ;
 While the rat is on the scout,
 And the mouse with curious snout,
 With what vermin else infest
 Every dish, and spoil the best,
 Frisking thus before the fire,
 Thou hast all thine heart's desire.

No. 25. — 10 Lines.

92. Though in voice and shape they be Formed as if akin to thee,
 Thou surpassest, happier far,
 Happiest grasshoppers that are ;
 Theirs is but a summer's song,
 Thine endures the winter long,
 Unimpaired, and shrill, and clear,
 Melody throughout the year.

No. 25. — 10 Lines.

93. Neither night nor dawn of day
 Puts a period to thy play ;
 Sing then, and extend thy span
 Far beyond the date of man :
 Wretched man, whose years are spent
 In repining discontent,
 Lives not, aged though he be,
 Half a span, compared with thee.

No. 17.

94. The spacious firmament on high,
 With all the blue, ethereal sky,
 And spangled heavens, a shining frame,
 Their great Original proclaim.
 The unwearied sun, from day to day,
 Does his Creator's power display,
 And publishes to every land
 The work of an almighty hand.

No. 17.

95. Soon as the evening shades prevail,
 The moon takes up the wondrous tale,
 And nightly to the listening earth
 Repeats the story of her birth ;
 Whilst all the stars that round her burn,
 And all the planets in their turn,
 Confirm the tidings as they roll,
 And spread the truth from pole to pole.

No. 17.

96. What though in solemn silence all
Move round this dark, terrestrial ball;
What though no real voice nor sound
Amidst their radiant orbs be found,—
In reason's ear they all rejoice,
And utter forth a glorious voice,
Forever singing, as they shine,
"The hand that made us is divine."
